PEACE REIGNS AT APIA.

Not a Particle of Truth in the Recent Sensation.

THE CONFERENCE AT BERLIN

The United States To Be Represented by John A Kasson, Wm. Walter Phelps and Geo H. Bates, the Latter of Delaware

AUCKLAND, March 14.—Advices just received from Samoa show that there was no basis for the sensational rumors of an engagement between the Nipsic and German corvette Olga For from this, the German officials in the islands have given up their aggressive policy. The proclamation of martial law has been withdrawn and the Germans have abandoned all claim to the right of searching incoming vessels for contraband of war Both of these steps have met with the hearty approval of all foreign residents at Apia, and have had a quieting effect Unusual tranquility prevails throughout the island Matafa, however has a force of troops estimated to be 6000 strong Tamasese's army consists of about 2000 men The men of war of both the Germans and Americans at Upolu are at Apia, ready for any emergency that may arise

PRESIDENTIAL NOMINATIONS

Including Three Commissioners to the Samoan Conference at Berlin.

WASHINGTON March 14.—The president has sent the following nominations to the senate J S Clarkson, of Iowa, to be first assistant postmaster general Lewis Woffley, of Tucson, A. T., to be Governor of Arizona Jeremiah Sullivan, of Montana, to be collector of customs for the district of Montana and Idaho. Postmasters William Wallace, for Indianapolis James B Kellogg for Wichita, Kans. John A Kasson, of Iowa, William Walter Phelps, of New Jersey, and George H Bates of Delaware, to be commissioners to represent the United States at the conference to be held in Berlin concerning affairs in the Samoan Islands Albert D Weed, of Montana, to be United States attorney for Montana.

The senate confirmed the nominations of J S Clarkson as first assistant postmaster general.

PRESIDENT HARRISON'S COMING MESSAGE

WASHINGTON, March 14.—It is said that President Harrison will not be content with the eight war vessels, which will be let by contract shortly after June 30, at the expiration of the current fiscal year He will advocate in his message to congress the building up of a very strong and modern navy

There are other steps which President Harrison will be ready to advocate in his message to the Fifty first congress. He believes in the provisions of the Bi-metallic act, but better laws to protect honest voters in the South, and elsewhere He will recommend the establishment of American shipping interests and clearer and closer relations with our South and Central American neighbors.

THE PRESIDENT'S NEW ROUTINE MEASURES.

WASHINGTON March 14.—The president has issued a new set of rules for the routine executive business. The cabinet will meet Tuesdays and Fridays at 12 30 M The senators and representatives to be received from 10 until 12. Persons, not members of congress, having business with the president will be received from 12 until 1 every day, except Mondays and cabinet days. Those who have no business, but call merely to pay their respects will be received by the president in the East room at 1 P M Mondays, Wednesdays and Saturdays.

A DIPLOMATIC POSSIBILITY.

If Bismarck Takes Samoa the United States May Annex the Sandwich Islands.

NEW YORK, March 14.—Referring to the Samoan conference the Herald's Washington special says When the Samoan conference assembles at Berlin it will be found that the United States will refuse the German proposition that the control in Samoa shall be in the hands of a single power, as Bismarck insisted at the Washington conference. It was proposed then by him that Germany should control in Samoa for five years, and that after that the power having the largest mercantile interest should control for another five years, and that, according to the German reports, would have been Germany over again

The correspondent further writes The only real question of the conference will concern the government of the islands, and the United States can accept nothing less than the rule of a native government, assisted, if it is thought best, by the advice of the delegates or commissioners of the three powers, the United States, England and Germany, acting together under the agreed restrictions.

If he accepts this plan, Bismarck will have first to abandon his recent pretensions. It is thought here in some quarters that he will refuse to do this, and that England may once more go with him, but in that case the conference can secure no settlement

When that becomes clear it is not impossible that an elle native may be presented to Bismarck and Salisbury The United States may say to Germany and England. "You insist that Germany shall control in Samoa. We will not. In that case we feel ourselves obliged to see that no foreign power be Sandwich Islands and annex that group to the United States, and this we shall at once proceed to do."

YESTERDAY'S APPOINTEES.

The Recipients of Many Previous Honors at the Hands of Uncle Sam

WASHINGTON, March 14.—George H Bates who was to-day nominated to be one of the commissioners to negotiate with Germany respecting Samoa, is a son of the ex-chancellor of Delaware and a lawyer of high standing in that state Bates was appointed by Secretary Bayard as a special commissioner to investigate our famous relations, and made a long and exhaustive report to the department December 10, 1886

William Walter Phelps and John A Kasson who were also nominated to be commissioners have had long and distinguished diplomatic careers and have acquired an intimate knowledge of diplomacy through their service as United States ministers in Europe

Lewis Wolffley, who was to-day nominated to be governor of Arizona, was born in Ohio about forty-eight years ago. He is a cousin of General Thomas Leving and was educated with him He entered the Union army from Kentucky, and served as Lieutenant colonel of cavalry under General Murray. At the close of the war, General Sheridan urged him to remain in the regular army, and promised him a commission He was a personal friend of President Garfield, who contemplated appointing him to a territorial office, but his papers had not been made out at the time of the president's assassination He was appointed by Postmaster General Hatton, supervisor of internal revenue by President Grant, and was afterwards secretary in Colorado and other Western territories. He has lived continuously in Arizona for seven or eight years, and has been engaged in various business enterprises there

THE DIPLOMATIC CORPS

In Costumes Resplendent They Pay Their Respects to the President.

WASHINGTON March 14.—At noon the president formally received the members of the diplomatic corps They first assembled at the state department, in resplendent court costumes, and were presented to Mr Blaine, who escorted them to the presidents the blue parlor The reception was informal and lasted half an hour

The president denied himself to all except a favored few, in order to devote to official business He consulted with the secretary of the interior, postmaster general and attorney general in regard to nominations made to-day Morrow of California, also called on him

SENATE PROCEEDINGS

Discussion of Our Relations With Other American Governments.

WASHINGTON March 14.—For some minutes after the reading of yesterday's journal the senate sat without any business being brought before it then a motion was made by Edmunds, and agreed to, that when an adjournment takes place to-day it be till Monday That arrangement having been made, the senate proceeded to the consideration of executive business.

At 2 o'clock the senate, still in executive session took a recess until 3 o'clock.

While the senate was sitting with closed doors Gibson a resolution for the appointment of a committee on the relations of the United States with Mexico and Central America was taken up

Mr Hale said if there were any just grounds for the formation of a like committee for the relations with Canada, the grounds were surely as strong and imperative in regard to Mexico It was of the utmost importance that the people of Mexico should cease to cherish jealousy of the people of the United States, or the resentments which came out of the Mexican war The friendship of Mexico was needed in order to uphold the Monroe doctrine, and it was important to cultivate friendly relations in order to develop American trade. At present France almost sent into Mexico double the value of goods the United States did

Morrill hoped that if the matter were considered at all it would be by the committee on commerce or finance

Platt, while recognizing fully the importance of cultivating friendly relations of a commercial character with Mexico and the South American states, agreed with Morrill.

Reagan spoke vigorously in favor of the resolution

Call favored the adoption of the resolution, and opposed the motion of reference He also advocated, indirectly, his own resolution, proposing a

ANOTHER FATAL FEUD.

A Resident of Eola, Or., Kills His Neighbor.

T L PERRYMAN THE VICTIM.

A Long Standing Quarrel Ends in a Resort to the Deadly Shotgun—Public Opinion Appears To Be Against the Murderer

DALLAS, March 14.—O P Beardsley, of Eola, shot and killed T L Perryman, of the same place, today The killing was the result of an old feud, in which Beardsley has always come out on top. Beardsley came to town to-day and delivered himself to the sheriff He claims that the killing was in self-defense, and has retained R. Williams, of Portland and John J Daily of Dallas, to defend him.

Beardsley fired two loads of buckshot into his victim either of which would produce death. Beardsley is a well known horticulturist and is very unpopular in the neighborhood Opinion in Polk is divided as is also the testimony, some claiming that Beardsley shot without provocation, and others that Perryman threw a big rock at him. Beardsley immediately went to Dallas and gave himself up and is in jail for examination saturday

DETAILS OF THE MURDER

Statements Gathered From Friends and Partisans of Both Men.

SALEM, Or., March 14.—Eola is a small place in Polk county on the Willamette river, about four miles above Salem. A telephone message stated the scene of the killing this afternoon. He first visited Mrs. Beardsley, who stated that the first trouble between deceased and her husband occurred two years ago last August, when Perryman struck Beardsley over the head with a monkey wrench the wounds being so severe that a physician was called to dress them. The next trouble was in May last, when Perryman beat her husband, who is a man about 60 years of age, nearly to death, tearing his face in fearful shape. On account of this trouble, she states, Beardsley sustained a broken rib

Mrs Beardsley said that this morning about 8 o'clock her husband and a Chinaman, who was working for him went to work on some lots opposite their house which is right in Eola. The house of Perryman is diagonally opposite theirs, and deceased soon came out and walked slowly down towards the Eola store, which is owned by Asa Strain, father-in law of deceased. Perryman stopped and looked at Beardsley several times, as though contemplating what to do, and the Chinaman says at one time he started for his gun. He then passed on down the sidewalk to the store.

Mr Beardsley has been going armed in fear of being attacked by Perryman for months, but he had no arms with him this morning, and we, after Perryman passed on, fearing trouble, he went over to his house and got his shot gun.

Mrs. Beardsley said she had been watching all the proceedings from her house, as she has watched Perryman whenever he left the house for months for he has made many threats against Mr. Beardsley's life, and so terrorized him that he was afraid to go out of the house after night, and that Mr Beardsley has received many letters warning him to leave the country or be killed. Soon saw Perryman coming along back up the sidewalk from the store towards his house. When he arrived even with Mr Beardsley he turned and hurled a large rock at him. Mr Beardsley then grabbed a shotgun and fired at Perryman.

The charge of No. 2 buckshot (very large) entered the left arm below the elbow and wrist, breaking both bones, and eleven of the shot entered the left breast in the region of the heart, scattering over a six inch space.

Perryman, as seen by Mrs. Beardsley, started to fall but made a motion as if reaching for a pistol, and Mr Beardsley fired a second time, at short at very close range, for the charge entered Perryman's back and tore a hole not much larger than a half dollar.

THE OTHER SIDE.

Mrs. Perryman, wife of deceased, says that when she arrived on the scene the clothing of her husband was on fire from burning powder, and she smothered it out with her hand.

Perryman, the dead man, was 32 years of age. He was born in Polk county, Missouri, and came to Oregon in 1884 settling at Eola, where he has since resided. He married a daughter of Asa Strain, who keeps a store at Eola. She was a widow with two children named Hurst, when he married her He leaves his wife, two step-children and a child 18 months old.

The funeral will be held at 10 o'clock to-morrow.

The friends of Perryman say he was a hard-working, straightforward man, and that his former attacks on Beardsley were provoked that Beardsley has slandered his wife, made sport of his children, and abused Perryman.

A BIG STEEL TRUST.

Announcement of the Consolidation of All the Important Manufactories.

PHILADELPHIA, March 14.—A special to the Inquirer from Chicago says The most important deal in the steel trade ever made in Chicago has been announced in the consolidation of the North Chicago Rolling Company, the Joliet Steel company and the Union Steel Company Negotiations to this end have been going on for two months and were practically concluded last week The news was kept very quiet and only leaked out through trade circles

The name of the new company has not yet been decided upon, but will be an entirely new one. The capital will be $20,000,000, of which between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000 will be issued for the cash now in the treasuries of the respective companies, and the balance will represent the valuation of the three plants. The stock in the new company will be distributed to the shareholders on a basis upon the basis of the operations of their consolidation.

The combined works will form the largest plant in this country, and will probably rank second only to the establishment of Krupp in Germany. Steel rails are the principal product of the mills and in rail making the new company will have no competition to speak of. There is the only one concern west of Chicago—the Colorado Coal and Iron Company's mill at South Pueblo, Colorado, and that is no of much account

By the consolidation of the Chicago concerns the Joest companies will be destroyed, and a good price realized for the rails. Already plans are being formed for securing the utmost advantages of the union by carrying up among the mills so that every department of each can be run to best advantage A reduction of expenses in other directions will be effected, and its demand for producing rails can be cut down 31 per ton as the combined works will manufacture one-third of the total output of the country and can turn out 8000 tons a year without much difficulty, besides 150,000 of other steel material. This saving is of great importance to the stockholders.

Imprisoned Miners.

MT CARMEL, Pa March 14.—Intense excitement prevails in the Black Diamond colliery, where by the running of the pillars, six miners have been closed in. The workmen are striving a heading for the purpose of liberating their imprisoned companions but several hours must elapse before it can be ascertained whether they are alive or not

At 4 o'clock this afternoon the laborers heard a faint sound of voices Two hours later they were enabled to hold a conversation with two of the men, who said that they were safe. A piece of ragged top rock is hanging over their heads however, and may fall at any moment. The other prisoners were cut off from the first two by a second fall of rock, and their fate remains unknown at a late hour to-night. The work of digging is going on as fast as possible

Driven to Insanity and Suicide.

KANSAS CITY, March 14.—Adolph Mack, alias John McKenzie committed suicide last night by taking morphine He was 52 years old and was en route from Phenix, A. T., to New York, where his wife resided. He married a daughter of Asa Strain, who keeps a store at Eola. She was a widow with two children named Hurst, when he married her He leaves his wife, two step-children and a child 18 months old.

The funeral will be held at 10 o'clock to-morrow.

He friends of Perryman say he was a hard-working, straightforward man, and that his former attacks on Beardsley were provoked that Beardsley has slandered his wife, made sport of his children, and abused Perryman.

Lord Lonsdale All Right.

WINNIPEG March 14.—The rumor that Lord Lonsdale who is now exploring British Columbia, has starved to death is a pure invention. Lonsdale is not within 1000 miles of the place where the two papers are said to have starved to death, and no unfavorable reports have been received from him.

A Blundering Forgery.

BUFFALO March 14.—The officers of the Buffalo Athletic Club this morning received a letter from ex President Cleveland, in which he states that the signature to his supposed application for membership was a blundering forgery

LIKE SELECT COMMITTEE FOR CUBA

And the West Indies. He had recently received various letters, showing that public attention was being generally directed to the subject of annexation or acquisition of the Island of Cuba. If it was important to ascertain the mercantile relations between Canada and the United States, it was certainly equally important to ascertain them in regard to Cuba.

Hale objected to further consideration of the subject in executive session, and the senate adjourned.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Eugene Schuyler nominated for assistant secretary of state, is at present in Italy and is not expected to arrive in Washington for at least a month Meanwhile Walker Blaine is occupying the assistant secretary's seat

A TERRIBLE EXPLOSION.

Boilers Burst in a Pittsburg Factory, and Several People Are Killed

PITTSBURG, March 14.—The battery of boilers at the boiler works of Monroe & Son exploded shortly after noon completely wrecking the plant and burying a number of men in the ruins. Five men were taken out dead and several badly injured A dozen others were seriously injured, several, it is thought fatally The building was a large one story brick Nothing remains but a mass of brick mortar and timbers The loss is $30,000. The concussion shattered windows and damaged houses for three blocks.

The work of rescue continued late this afternoon but no bodies were found. All the employes have been accounted for Of sixty five workmen five were killed and eleven injured a number of them quite seriously, one of whom is in a dangerous condition and will probably die.

The list of killed is as follows: Thos Limehow, engineer James Carter Jacob R. Heinheimer, Chas Auleubuche and Daniel Clark, boilermakers.

The cause of the explosion is a mystery No investigation has been made as yet Everyone spoken to on the subject expressed confidence in the engineer and agreed that he was a careful and competent man The boiler had been in use eight years

A SWINDLING REAL ESTATE DEALER.

Chicago Capitalists Victimized to a Large Extent.

CHICAGO, March 14.—William H. Davis, a well known builder and real estate dealer, was arrested to-day charged with swindling President Yeoman, of the Chicago Trust and Savings bank.

Forgery was the specification, but the purpose was to hold Davis, in addition, for an extensive series of thieves, such as selling to each of a number of people the same piece of property

The prisoner quickly gave bail on the forgery charge, and disappeared from the justice's office before it was realized that additional warrants were necessary

To-night it would appear that, besides the plunder from his alleged crimes, he has made away with all of his real estate holdings. Where the money has gone to is a mystery Davis was in the real estate business in Chicago for ten years, and has a handsome residence on the west side.

The amount fraudulently secured by Davis in his dealings with Banker Tolman is said to be about $15,000. The extent of his ill-gotten gains from others is not known, but it is estimated to be large.

THE CANADIAN FISHERIES

Bait Will Be Refused Americans During the Coming Season.

GLOUCESTER, Mass. March 14.—Reports from New Foundland say that the issue of licenses to American vessels for the purchase of bait and other necessary outfit will be refused this season and that the government will coincide with the Dominion government in that policy

The Fishermen's Union of the United States vessels last season violated the license given them, and the bait purchased in New Foundland was sold to the French at St. Pierre.

Fishermen who have recently returned from Fortune and Placentia bays, say that cutters are already patrolling the coast, and that every port is strictly guarded, so that no violation of the bait act can be made. No bait purchased for export, except under $1000 bonds that is to be landed at American ports, a receipt from the consignee through the British consul being also required.

AMICABLY SETTLED

The Dispute Between the Northern and Union Pacific at Jefferson Canyon Ended.

ST PAUL, March 14.—President Oakes of the Northern Pacific, in an interview to-day with the associated press correspondent, said that the dispute between the Union Pacific and Northern Pacific in Jefferson canyon, Montana, regarding which there have been several rumors of serious trouble between the employes of the two roads, has been amicably settled. The Northern Pacific buys the old grade of the Union Pacific the latter being allowed, when it so desires, to use the new road, which will be built immediately

The line will cut off 100 miles of the present route to Butte, and will afford the means for shipping Rocky York coal by the Short Line

A GIGANTIC SCHEME.

Southern Pacific Railroad Capital To Be Used in Developing Lower California.

ST LOUIS, March 14.—The statement comes from Vicksburg, Miss., that a syndicate, composed of C P Huntington Mrs Hopkins, whose of the late millionaire, and Leland Stanford have bought 1,000,000 acres of land in Lower California, and are buying more Their object is said to be to develop that section of the country, and a part of the scheme is the building of 1300 miles of railroad, some of which is now being on it. When the engineering party were surveying the route they struck gold on this property, and this, it is alleged, has decided Huntington to dispose of all his railroad property east of the Mississippi river and concentrate all his interests in the Far West.

THREATENED WITH STARVATION.

President Harrison Urged to Investigate Matters at Oklahoma

ST LOUIS March 14.—A Purcell, Indian territory, special says Oklahoma Bill and party to-day sent a message to President Harrison to the effect that the situation in Oklahoma was critical, and that it was a national necessity to have action taken at once

The telegram concludes "If a thousand actual, honest settlers claiming admittance are compelled to depend on the right to settlement until too late to make a crop, an awful starvation will follow"

The fire house and house for the calcine furnaces were also consumed The loss is fully half a million About 1200 men are thrown out of employment.

A TERRIBLE SUSPICION.

Sudden Death of Four Children of Worthless Parents.

PORT TOWNSEND W T, March 14.—Last January John McEbron, wife and six children arrived here, and shortly afterwards two of the children died of diphtheria, very suddenly The father was arrested for drunkenness the day of the funeral, and the mother was likewise intoxicated. To-day two more of the children very mysteriously died, and a general rumor was circulated that the children were poisoned The mother said in the presence of a doctor that she wished the whole family were dead She while intoxicated accused the doctor of malpractice

The coroner, after investigating the case has ordered an inquest to-morrow The circumstances are the talk of the town

THE WHITE MURDER TRIAL.

Defendant Tells His Story of the Fatal Meeting.

TACOMA, W T March 14.—In the White murder case after the other evidence for the prosecution had been heard, Sheriff Price testified that he had endeavored to serve a subpœna on Dr Whitemute who, he was informed, had gone to Portland The court decided to admit testimony given by him and another witness at a former trial, and the prosecution reserved the right to recall Dr Whitemute, if he should be found.

The defense called thirteen witnesses to-day, namely William O Renshaw A L Porter, Joseph Brannon, G B Hill, Robert Bracken William White, Frank O Meeker, John White, Hiram Doggett, Thomas White, John Arthur, Emma White and William M White, the accused.

Much of the testimony related to the threats alleged to have been made by the deceased against the defendant, and to the statements of members of the defendant's family corroborative of defendant's statement, which was to the effect that on the day of the shooting he was in his house when some of his sons came in and said McMillan had come to cut the hay Defendant then went into the bedroom and brought out a revol er which had been kept for a long time there without being used and went with his son Ross to the scene of the killing He asked McMillan, who had climbed into his wagon, what he was doing there, and whether he had any sheriff's papers authorizing him to come and cut the hay. Deceased said he had not, and pulled a paper from the wagon bed, and said that was his authority A quarrel ensued, during which he felt a bullet pass by his ear, and thereupon fired with the revolver at deceased. It was not, however, till he reached the house that he found he had fired more than once. He sent his son William for a doctor During the scuffle he had taken the gun away from McMillan.

The examination of witness was not concluded when court adjourned

TASCOTT, THE MURDERER.

He Is Thought To Have Been Captured in British Columbia

VICTORIA, B C, March 14.—A man answering the description of Tascott, the murderer of Snell, the Chicago millionaire, has been arrested at Nanaimo and lodged in jail.

The man boarded the train at Gold Stream, eleven miles from Victoria and jumped off the train at Nanaimo before reaching the station, and immediately proceeded to the boathouse and engaged a boat to take him to Gabriola Island. He stated that he was hunted and wished to escape his pursuers. Rain came on, and the boatman refused to go The man then went to a hotel and changed his clothes, after which he went to a livery stable and offered a hundred dollars to drive him out of town When about to start he was arrested. On examination, the scars found on his person were shown to correspond to those given in the description of Tascott. He gave the name of Charles Palmer a native of England, and was much excited when arrested.

From his actions, it is believed that he is insane. Three detectives were in this city a few days ago, and it is believed that they were on the track of Tascott. They proceeded to San Francisco.

FROM SEATTLE.

Governor Swineford Arrives From Alaska —Smallpox Raging Among the Indians.

SEATTLE, W T, March 14.—Governor Swineford arrived here to-day from Alaska on the steamer Idaho. The governor sent his resignation to President Harrison on February 15, which is to take effect on April 1. The governor reports a number of rich gold discoveries recently made on Admiralty Island, 75 miles from Sitka One ledge of ore assays from $200 to $4000 per ton This ledge has been sold to T M Artisell, the piano manufacturer of San Francisco, for $30,000. The governor also sends details at length the story published by Mrs. Voorhees regarding the cruelties inflicted on Indian women and girls by white men in Alaska.

The list of subscriptions to the Denny hotel project to-day amounts to $217,500, including Mr A. A Denny's original subscription of $50,000 This leaves $32 500 to be raised This amount, $100,000, does not represent the cost of building, but all the necessary remainder is to be furnished by Eastern capitalists at a low rate of interest Work on the excavation for the edifice will begin within ten days

John Mooney, the notorious Portland one legged hoodlum, was arrested here to-day on a charge of vagrancy With two other boys he had plotted to rob a cigar store, but their little job was foiled by a policeman, who overheard their conversation, and arrested them as vagrants

A meeting of the executive committee of the Chamber of Commerce was held to-day, when a communication was received from citizens of Goldendale, asking Tacoma citizens to subscribe $75,000 or $100,000 towards the stock of a road from the Goldendale and Horse Heaven country to Prosser, on the line of the Northern Pacific, so that the products of this wealthy region could be brought to Tacoma, and reciprocal trade relations be established. Nelson Bennett, president of the chamber, made a glowing statement of the resources of the country, and recommended the people of Tacoma to subscribe for the stock The committee recommended the United States government to make an economic survey of Washington at an expense of $20,000, and preliminary steps were taken to form an historical society

Lucy E. Johnson has brought suit for divorce against Brock Johnson, under somewhat distressing circumstances, The allegations of plaintiff are that there is a considerable amount of community property, and that some time ago defendant sent her away East to visit some friends, and then refused to furnish her with money on which to return While she was absent he brought suit for divorce against her, without her knowledge and obtained a decree which gave him all the property Plaintiff therefore sues to set aside the decree and grant her a divorce, with a share of the property

Shortly after work had begun at the Tacoma mill this morning the wharf men were informed that their wages were reduced from $40 to $35 a month. No intimation had been given them before and Charles Hanson, president and William Hanson, superintendent, were both away from town The men struck at once, and lumber from the mill began coming down the chutes without anyone to handle it till it was piled in every direction The officers at the mill hired other men to take the place of the strikers, but they were persuaded by the strikers to leave at once, and the mill had to be closed down through inability to take care of the lumber, and has remained so all day

FROM CHEHALIS

Coal Mines of High Grade—The Port Townsend Southern Railway—Etc

CHEHALIS W T March 14—For some time prospectors for coal have been boring all over the eastern end of Lewis county in the employ of some Chicago capitalists. Monday a wagon load of tools accompanied by half a dozen men, left Chehalis for a claim eight miles due east of this point where a large vein of very hard and clean burning coal has been opened This party is in charge of R. H Thorbernson, a competent geologist and coal expert, and will make a thorough development of the vein Mr Thorbernson is confident of having found better coal than any yet mined on the coast This claim is located on a spur of Elk mountain the "backbone" between the Sound and the Columbia river, and experts in coal have previously asserted as their belief that older and consequently harder coal existed in that locality than in any other known coal region in the Northwest H J Brooks of this city who owns several mines and has spent a good deal of money prospecting says he confidently expects to open a vein of anthracite coal soon An assay of one of his beds shows 60 per cent carbon, a much higher grade than any of the Sound coal

A carload of railroad officials were here Monday to receive the deeds of the land donated for the new depot and side tracks, and the entire business was settled satisfactorily The actual work of removal will commence next Monday The depot will be put on trucks, a third rail laid and will be moved bodily down the track about 1600 feet. During removal the company will use the flouring mill storehouse as a depot

Chief Engineer Hogg of the Port Townsend Southern was in Chehalis yesterday He says his company means business, and is pushing the location of the road as fast as possible, the objective point being Chehalis. Mrs. Bennett, who owns the original townsite and the land adjoining on three sides, made an offer of ample ground for depot purposes, and other citizens made liberal propositions of accommodations as to right of way, although Mr Hogg really asked for nothing He says he realizes the importance of reaching Chehalis, and that the road must come here to secure business.

William West has leased to Mr Scott the Donald son building, and will immediately complete it for a general boarding and lodging house, for which there is now great need The building is quite a large one and well located for the purpose.

S H Berry has begun the erection of a two-story building in the L. & T Co s addition in front of the new depot to contain a restaurant and lodging rooms It is two stories high, 24x90 feet, and will be completed as soon as possible.

The baker has just got into his new building and opened with a rushing business

Mr Dulmay has bought a corner lot on Second and Prindle streets on which he will erect a hotel.

Judge Loder sold his residence property yesterday to Stephen Baker and immediately bought the Richards home for his own use.

Enough rain has already fallen to affect the river and loggers will take advantage of it to run their logs Several million feet are in the sloughs and creeks, and the men had almost despaired of getting them out. The mills were also in distress, being out of material with a big demand for lumber

Messrs. Owen and Lewis have been appointed a committee to visit Portland to investigate advertising methods and procure estimates of cost of illustrating a new folder which Chehalis will issue as soon as it can be printed A preliminary folder just printed at the Bee office was found to be a good thing, and the committee believes a larger one with suitable illustrations of the town and surroundings will be of much value

Considerable interest is manifested in Chehalis over the election of delegates to the constitutional convention, and there are several aspirants. Among those spoken of are J R Wolfe D Miller Hon T H Long, Henry Miller of Lewis county, of Centralia, and Van Wert, of Salkum They are all competent men

DEFRAUDING THE GOVERNMENT.

Millions of Feet of Lumber Already Stolen in the Big Bend Country.

SPOKANE FALLS, W T March 14.—Sam Vinson, special agent of the general land department, arrived to-night from Badger mountain 100 miles northwest of here in the Big Bend country He was ordered out there to investigate the reports of trespass on the government timber lands, and found that several million feet of lumber had been taken from Badger mountain, covering a scope of country nine miles square. These depredations were in addition to their full capacity, two of them owned by Nash & Stevens and one by Cannon & Harris They were well supplied with logs, and timber cutting was progressing without concealment.

The people of this locality were justified in taking the timber for lumber fuel, etc., in the development of the country the law s very plain, and will probably cause the trespassers a great deal of trouble.

Clifford and Cunningham Acquitted.

HELENA, Mont., March 14.—The grand jury at Missoula failed to find true bills against Messrs J. R. Clifford or Dr Cunningham, the parties charged with killing an Indian at Demersville recently, which came near causing an uprising, and they were accordingly discharged from custody The witness from the scene of the fight think Mr Clifford was justified in his action The Indians threaten to kill Clifford if he comes back, and he has determined to locate elsewhere.

They Are Worn by Soldiers.

Evidence of the value of ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS come in the following letter from Charles Yeager of Company A, 11th U S. Infantry, stationed at Fort Sully Dakota.

I have been using ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS for the last ten years, and feel quite lost if I have not half a dozen in my possession. In this section of the country we have at times very severe cold. When the thermometer is below zero I find that an ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTER on the pit of the stomach is invaluable They appear to cool to warm the body, but to invigorate the digestion. At times I have been greatly troubled with a lame back. Two ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS placed upon the spine invariably cure me in two or three days. Sometimes I have had a severe cough and very bad cold. An ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTER placed around the throat and on the chest, and one between the shoulder blades, have invariably afforded me immediate relief and a quick cure.

THE STORM CONTINUES

Its Disastrous Effects Declared To Be Unprecedented.

MANY PASSENGERS STORM BOUND

Southern Pacific Officials Have No Hope of Clearing the Track Inside of Forty Eight Hours—Innumerable Washouts

REDDING March 14—Six hundred men with bridge timbers, etc, arrived to day from Oakland to repair the track between Redding and Dunsmuir There are three washouts at Elmorq and 400 feet of track is covered near Sims

In Redding it has been raining and blowing continuously The river is high and the creeks are not fordable The wires are down and the exact damage to the railroad cannot be told

THE STORM UNPRECEDENTED

The California & Oregon Track in a Very Bad Condition

DELTA Cala, March 14—The storm is unprecedented It has rained hard incessantly since Sunday The Sacramento river has been a raging flood, covered with floating logs and driftwood Railroad embankments have been torn away wherever exposed to the fury of the current The mountain sides are thoroughly soaked and many serious land slides have occurred.

One hundred and four passengers bound for Oregon have been here since last night and will probably be sent back to Redding till the track is clear

One hundred and fifty feet of track was swept into the river in sight of Delta by a landslide Between twenty and thirty slides and washouts are reported in a distance of twelve miles northward. In many instances the river has washed away the roadbed to the inside rail Palmer flagged south eight miles last night. The trip took him four hours. He found places where the end of the ties projected over the washed out bank of the river Palmer and Mott again went south this morning a distance of twenty miles, clearing track.

Superintendent George arrived from Dunsmuir this afternoon with a force of nine men, repairing wires.

Three specials left Redding this afternoon with 200 workmen from San Francisco and material for repairing the track.

The river is falling considerably to-day The weather is clearing to-night

Delta is about 100 miles south of the Oregon state line and 270 miles north of San Francisco

IN A VERY BAD CONDITION.

Railroad Officials Say the Track Cannot Be Cleared Before Two Days.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 14.—General Superintendent Fillmore, of the Southern Pacific Company, said to-day that the washouts were of such an extensive nature between here and Oregon that through trains will not be running again for forty-eight hours, at the expiration of which time he hoped to have the track repaired.

The train which left here Tuesday night is still at Delta. The worst washout is between Delta and the eighteenth crossing of the Sacramento river, where 600 feet of track are gone Between that point and Delta three or four other washouts have occurred, which the workmen were repairing to-day Two special trains have been sent to the scene with a large number of laborers and carloads of material Superintendent of Telegraph Vandenburgh and the superintendent of track have gone up to take charge of the work

The train due to-this morning is at Sissons, where the passengers are being made as comfortable as possible

Few through passengers left the city on the north bound train to-day, the railroad people notifying all applicants for tickets regarding the condition of the track.

WASHOUTS IN THE SOUTH

LOS ANGELES, March 14.—The westbound passenger train due here last evening arrived here this morning Rains washed away over 300 feet of track near the Whitewater river Washouts on the Atlantic & Pacific road likewise delayed the Santa Fe train, and repairs had to be made A heavy rain fell last night, accompanied by thunder and lightning

WORSE THAN FIRST REPORTED

ALBUQUERQUE, N M, March 14.—The freight wreck at Fairview on the Atlantic & Pacific is greater than was first reported. The train was travelling at a rapid rate of speed, and in approaching a curve, the engine jumped the track, going down a bank and turning over on its side Fifteen cars followed it in a heap.

A brakeman, named Oliver Ferguson, leaped from one of the cars, breaking his right leg and sustaining internal injuries. He was brought here to-day, and will probably die. The engineer and fireman were pinned for several hours in perilous positions. It is thought that the latter is hurt internally

A LAND GRANT CONTEST

An Important Decision at San Francisco in Favor of the Southern Pacific

SAN FRANCISCO, March 14.—In the United States circuit court to-day, Judge Sawyer rendered an important decision By this decision the demurrer of the United States in the case of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company vs. the United States was overruled, and the proposition laid down that the United States can be sued by a subject.

The Southern Pacific Company brought suit against the government in the circuit court, under an act of congress of March 3, 1887, entitled "an act to provide for bringing suits against the government of the United States," setting up a claim to a tract of land against the United States, and asking that its title to the land be established in petitioner by a decree of this court.

The lands are odd numbered sections lying within the limits of the lands granted by the United States to the company in an act approved July, 1866.

The petition claims that the facts alleged, if true show that the lands are subject to grant, and that the petitioner has performed all necessary conditions. Its right to a patent is shown, yet the proper officers refuse to issue the patent as required by law. The petitioner says that it may be adjudged entitled to a patent and have such further relief as may be agreeable to equity

The United States demurs to the proposition, on the ground that the court has no jurisdiction in such a suit, and that the United States cannot be sued in such a case.

The court then says: "In this case the claim is founded upon a statute of the United States and upon statutory contract, and the value of the matter in dispute exceeds $1000 and less than $10 000 If the matters alleged then constitute a claim within the meaning of that term used in the statute, the U S Courts are liable thereon in this action and the court has jurisdiction over it, concurrent with the court of claims After a careful consideration of the matter, I am satisfied that they do constitute a claim within the meaning of the act. The statute is remedial, and the statutes are to be liberally construed."

A COMPLIMENT TO JUDGE DEADY.

In closing, the court says "A case strictly analogous (Jones vs. the United States, 85 Fed. R 5, 361) was decided by Deady, district judge in the circuit court, district of Oregon, in July last, in which he discussed this point with great fullness and his usual ability, and in which he held that the word 'claim,' as used in the statute, included a claim to land, and upheld the jurisdiction of the court I can add nothing more to what he said in that case and I content myself with referring to the decision, and expressing my concurrence in the views stated by him upon the point."

THE GOLD FEVER.

The Excitement Still Continues—Conflicting Reports From Returned Miners.

SAN DIEGO, March 14—The gold excitement in Lower California is in a peculiar state. Groups of men can be found at almost any time of the day who have the Santa Clara fever as badly as any body ever had it. Teams can now be seen hourly loading for the mines, and the incoming trains continue to bring in the gold hunters.

On the other hand men can be found standing in knots talking equally strong against the mines.

Those who have returned are divided as to their reports, some saying that there is gold in the Santa Clara district in great quantities, while others say that no gold is there.

All of the miners who have returned agree in one thing, and that is that there is no excuse for a poor man rushing off to the gold fields, and that those who go without large supplies of provisions and plenty of money are likely to suffer

STEADY RECORD OF THE DISCOVERERS OF THE MINES.

It was learned to-day that Luman Gaskill, the discoverer of the mines, has a record in California. He came to California from Oregon or Washington territory, where he was known as Edwards, and where, it is said, he killed a man years ago He lived for a time in San Joaquin county, where, it is said, he killed another man and had to leave this locality.

CORRUPTION AT SACRAMENTO.

Efforts of the Machine Politicians to Defeat Salutary Legislation.

SACRAMENTO, March 14.—The senate this morning resumed its discussion of the assembly bill which provides for the appropriation of $8000 for the purchase of land and the erection of a medical college as a part of the University of California, to be located near San Francisco city and the county hospital.

The object of the bill is to allow the old Toland Medical college property to be sold and to build a new and better one.

The senate discussed the matter from 11 o'clock last night until 1 this morning. It then killed it by a vote of 18 to 16.

The common talk is that democratic Boss Buckley, of San Francisco, has made out of this session at least $100,000. A certain legislator, who has been a very clever co-worker, is said to have cleared $20,000 by his labors.

In vetoing the bill providing for the election of a superintendent of state printing, Governor Waterman threw a bombshell into the camp of all the printers about the capitol. The objections urged by him are those which governed the legislature originally in making the office appointive, viz That the most competent man cannot be procured from the nominating conventions and that election to that office would soon become a political machine.

The printers will try to pass the bill over the governor's veto.

Renison's bill to protect bona fide settlers has passed the senate. It is generally understood that this bill is antagonized by many of the big land holders and much interest is manifested in the fate of the measure

It provides that the pre-emptor or homestead claimant, who has in good faith complied with all the requirements of the law, can make and file the state courts action against any person who enters into possession of the land covered by his declaratory statement and who claims by no better title than mere possession

HEADING FOR CALIFORNIA

The Union Pacific May Enter the State From Both Ends.

SAN FRANCISCO March 14—A private letter just received in this city from an official in the construction department of the Union Pacific gives more direct information than any previously received regarding the plans of that company For some time shrewd observers have said that without doubt the Union Pacific is planning to enter California either by one of the Sierra passes north of the Central Pacific pass, or by way of Reno and San Bernardino county from Nevada and Utah The letter referred to asserts that the road has branches projected to enter the state at both ends and conveys an impression that already the manager of the line are figuring on the profits to be derived from the country it is to cross

IN THE CHAMBER OF DEPUTIES.

An Excited Debate Which May Result in Several Duels

PARIS, March 14.—In the chamber of deputies to-day Laguerre averred that his party intended to prosecute the campaign carefully and legally He would not appeal to the chamber, whose verdict was immaterial but to the country, which supported the Patriotic league

He denied that the league was a secret society The real conspirators were those who rebelled against universal suffrage Prosecution and violence would only hasten the hour when the country disgusted and indignant would expe the the chamber [Applause from the right.]

General Boulanger rose, and crossing his arms, defiantly regarded the majority An uproar ensued during which Thiessé was censured for apostrophizing the president.

Cassagnac defied the chamber to prosecute Boulanger

The debate was clotured 318 to 214.

The chamber then, by a vote of 334 to 227 authorized the government to prosecute the deputies The sitting then adjourned.

As a result of the heated debate, duels are imminent between Arone and Provost De Launay, Burfeau and Cassagnac, and Pichon and Laguerre Horribly Burned.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 14—Mrs James Bilger was horribly burned this morning and will probably die. While cooking breakfast, she thought the fire did not burn fast enough and threw petroleum on it. The oil caught and exploded setting fire to her clothing. The baby in her arms was terribly burned Maggie and Joseph Durkin her neighbors were badly burned while attempting to save the unfortunate woman

Sore Eyes Cured.

EUGENE CITY Or Feb 23, 1889

Mr Editor: My little girl 5 years old has been for the past eight or nine months afflicted with granulated conjunctivitis complicated with ulcers on the eye ball I had her treated by some of the most prominent physicians in Chicago, where I resided before coming here, but without success The child was getting worse every day. Hearing of Drs Darrin, I consulted them in regard to her case and they said they could cure her I took their treatment for her and now, after three weeks, she is pronounced practically cured Refer to me at Springfield, Oregon D J GRAHAM

Cross Eyes Straightened.

SALEM Or, January 1889.

To the Public: It affords me pleasure to state that Drs Darrin cured my little girl 11 years old, of a very bad cast or cross of the right eye. The eye was straightened as good as ever in two operations The eye had been in the crossed condition for more than seven years This is not intended for an advertisement, but as an expression of gratitude due to Drs. Darrin for their careful and proficient work. J B. TICHENOR.

Hearing Restored.

Editor—Dear Sir I have been troubled with deafness for over fifteen years I applied to the Drs. Darrin, and after a few treatments by their wonderful electromagnetic method of treatment, my hearing was entirely restored, and now I can hear my watch tick for the first time in many years I can be referred to and seen in regard to my case at any time at Howell Prairie, or address me at Macleay Oregon

AN INTERESTING LETTER.
OFFICE OF THE ELECTRIC LIGHT AND POWER CO., ALBANY January 26.
Messrs. Russell & Co. Portland Oregon—Gentlemen Your letter of inquiry regarding the working of the sixty-horse power engine purchased of us at hand. In reply will say that the engine is all you recommended it both as to power, regulation and economy We are running one Schuyler arc light dynamo and fifty 2000-candle power lights, and one Heisler dynamo the former requiring about thirty-horse power and the latter eighteen horse power. The belts are fully loaded, and the friction cannot absorb less than five-horse power, which is working the engine idle It is full guaranteed capacity and the automatic regulation is so perfect that in pleasing either dynamo in or out makes no perceptible difference in the speed, and we have started them outside and run all night with one cord of wood. CHOICE OF TWO MOTOR LINES

CARS ON EACH SIDE OF TRACT

5-ACRE TRACTS $250 AN ACRE

LAND NEAR BY $1000 AN ACRE

Homes for Workingmen. Big Lots! Quick Transportation!

Sunnyside addition adjoins Sunnyside on the east and fronts on Hawthorne avenue (the finest boulevard on the East Side) being 70 feet wide. The land is all cleared, is high, affords a fine view and perfect drainage and slopes gradually to the west and east. Work on the Sunnyside extension of the motor line to Mount Tabor commences this (Monday) morning, the line passing directly by the tract and the rails are now scattered along Hawthorne avenue for the motor line to be constructed immediately on the other side. It will thus be seen that Sunnyside will be in rapid and cheap means of communication with the cities of Portland and East Portland. The lots are all large many of them being 137 feet in depth. The tract is beautifully laid out, the width of the streets and running to the established width of the main thoroughfares. Easily reached by free from gravel thus insuring dry walks, and will be kept in flower gardens, and the water is of the purest quality. Lots $100 to $250 each. One fourth cash, balance in from one to two years. Do not miss any circumstances delay but call now and secure a home and at the same time property that a few years hence can not be bought for treble the amount that is asked for it now.

THE OLDEST AND BEST KNOWN REAL ESTATE DEALER IN EAST PORTLAND.

YOU ARE SIMPLY REQUESTED TO EXAMINE THESE PROPERTIES, AND NOT TO BUY, ONLY AFTER BECOMING CONVINCED THAT THEY ARE THE BEST PROPERTIES ON THE MARKET TO-DAY.

The Cheapest and Best Inside Property Ever Put on the Market.

In all big cities property within easy communicating distance is always held at big figures. Property that can be reached in half an hour or less from the heart of the city by easy modes of travel is eagerly sought by the business and professional classes of influence for summer and suburban homes. Such property offers all the quiet of a country life with the advantage of proximity to the business center of the city. Glenhaven Park is the finest outside east side property now on the market. It is situated less than one mile from the terminus of the motor line adjoins Mount Tabor and JUST THINK OF IT 60 acres adjoining has just been sold in one piece for $600 per acre and will be platted and put on the market at one for $1000 per acre, and here you can buy 5-acre tracts in Glenhaven Park for from $ 50 to $500 per acre. It is now understood that during the coming summer the O. R. & N. Co will run suburban trains out as far as Mount Tabor passing directly through this Park. The finest of all the purest of water and in a most healthy locality. Examine this land by all means. Platted in 5 acre tracts 10 by $250 to $300 per acre. Perfect title and security of a safe investment that promises certain returns to take it. Send or call on G. Glenhaven Park. The property can not be excelled.

THE HOLLADAY LITIGATION.

The Case of Captain Alex Davis Tried Before Judge Deady Yesterday.

Carrying Too Many Passengers—Before Judges Shattuck and Stearns—Police Court—The Justices' Tribunals—The Blotter

The Holladay estate is now in such a chaotic state that the litigants scarcely know who is who, and each step in litigation only makes matters worse. A compromise is now proposed but whether one will be effected is dependent upon circumstances.

The greater portion of County Judge Catlin's time yesterday was taken up hearing the testimony on the application of Mrs. Ben Holladay for the removal of Joseph Holladay from the executorship of her husband's estate. She charges him with mismanagement, incompetency and hostility to the interests of her self and children and with having caused a loss of $400,000 to the estate by his failure to redeem the East Portland property.

Quite a number of witnesses were examined and considerable testimony taken. The case will be argued and submitted on the 20th.

James Steel, Theodore Wygant and J P O Cownskie told how it happened that they failed to make an appraisement of the estate. They said that Joe Holladay did not attend their first meeting, but subsequently he offered to show them the property.

George W Weidler told the court that every effort had been made to redeem the property of the Oregon Real Estate Company and that a bonus of $50,000 had been offered for this purpose.

General Rufus Ingalls testified that the feeling between Joseph and Ben Holladay was not the best and that Joe was unfriendly to the interests of the estate.

Mr Holladay denied the charges of hostility and unfriendliness, as against him by Mrs. Holladay and repeated his original statement. Further testimony was corroborative of what Mr Weidler had said relative to the effort made to ride in the East Portland property. It was the last witness to be examined and Judge Catlin decided that he had made a fair showing, the latter place to rise the sum of $500 on his own individual responsibility for the purpose of acquiring the money needed.

"All that prevented me calling at the family residence," continued Mr Joseph Holladay, "in this or any other way, was General Ingalls. He refused to serve with me, as co-executor of the estate, adding and said that Mr Weidler and I were plotting in conspiracy to rob the estate, and I think if I live a day could come forth from the grave I live in that he would take and do his best to ruin me and rob him of what is his. I have the kindest feeling for Mrs. H Holladay and the children and have always tried to manage the estate in their interest. Ingalls ran me out of the house and said he has forbidden Mrs. Holladay to see her. Mrs. Camp has had her sisters, Mrs. Darnall and Mrs. Fowler to visit at the house.

What are the prospects of a compromise?" asked a reporter yesterday of Joe Holladay.

"I am willing to do so," he replied "but it must be made on my terms."

ASSAULT ON THE HIGH SEAS.

The case of Alexander Davis charged with assaulting Richard Jewell, a sailor, on the high seas came up for trial in the United States district court yesterday. Defendant entered a plea of not guilty. Several separate assaults were alleged and Jewell testified in regard to each. Other witnesses corroborated his testimony in regard to Davis striking or cutting Jewell but knew nothing as to the provocation.

In regard to this the testimony of Jewell and Davis differed materially. In one case Mr Davis says Jewell met him in the huntiness of a mail with rope yarn instead of rubber as he should, and when asked what he had that them with said he did not know and did not care a d——n. Upon this, Mr Davis struck or cuffed him. Another time Jewell while at the wheel failed to keep the ship on her course, and of or letting her fall off a point two or three times Mr Davis spoke rather harshly and abruptly to him whereupon Jewell let go the wheel and threw a marline spike at him. Mr Davis struck him. Of course, the ideas of Jewell and Davis in regard to the trouble were very different but the latter testified that Jewell was a most impertinent fellow and no sailor, and the Deady will deliver a decree in the case this morning.

THE POLICE COURT DOCKET

The session of the police court yesterday was short and devoid of interest there not being a single new case on the clerk's transcript.

The fellow who cards were rapidly disposed of by Judge Tuner. Mickey Ist, drunk, $5 in Judge Clark, simple drunk $2 the cases of Edward Fenzler, Edward Kavanaugh and Jerry Shurlock charged with the same offense, were continued until to-day. Ah Tang, peddling without a license, was discharged. In passing on the last case the court remarked: "It seems to me that there is a good deal of contention between the police officers and Chinese peddlers. The arresting officers, in most instances, think that the Chinaman are peddling California vegetables, whereas they, in most cases, raise what they sell. A vegetable peddler needs no license to peddle his own products but in cases where the wares are imported the city ordinances require them to pay a license."

MINOR JUSTICE COURT CASES

The civil action brought by Henry Levitus against J M Bowie for $85 damages was tried before a jury in Justice Tuttle's court yesterday, and the plaintiff was awarded the munificent sum of $1. The plaintiff in the action is an expressman and the defendant a milkman. Levitus alleged in his complaint that a team belonging to the milkman ran away recently, colliding with his delivery wagon and injuring one of his horses to the extent of $85.

John Lomasich will be tried in this court to-day on a charge of selling liquor to a minor.

M Marks was arrested yesterday by Constable Simmons on a charge of assaulting S Abrahams. The case will come up in Justice Tuttle's court this morning at 10 o'clock.

Justice Tuttle yesterday united Gustaf F Olsen, of Clackamas, W T, and Miss Wilhelmina Fresborn, of this city, in marriage.

WHICH ONE IS GUILTY?

Constable Sam Simmons yesterday arrested August Schaefer on a charge of having stolen ninety-five cords of wood, the property of Ingolt & Brown, wood dealers. The wood was piled along side of the O. R. & N. west side street car line in the city limits at the time it is alleged to have been stolen. Schaefer claims to be innocent of any crime on his part. He says he bought the wood from Jonathan Taylor supposing it to belong to the latter he having helped load it on the trucks. Taylor, on his part, does not deny having sold the wood to Schaefer but says that the purchaser took the wood from the river bank. As Rice helped load the wood on the cars that brought it to this city Justice Tuttle felt justified in issuing a warrant for his arrest, which he did. The case will be further looked into to-day.

THE DIVORCE MILL GRINDING

Laura B Rolfe is suing L E Rolfe for a divorce and the custody of their minor children and support are the grounds alleged. Mrs Rolfe avers that her husband ordered her to go home to her parents, telling her that he wanted to marry another woman one who knew something about the outside world.

Mary McMahon is suing M M McMahon for a divorce. Mrs McMahon charges her husband with desertion, lasciviousness and profligacy.

Charles Heilman has applied for a divorce from Anna Heilman because she deserted him.

A SILVER DOLLAR FOR MR. MILLS

A Portland jury has decided that one man can call another a liar and a perjurer for $1. T S Mills, who averred that A L Cooper used these opprobrious epithets in referring to him sued for $2500 but the jury found that he wanted $2499 too much and rendered a verdict to that effect before Judge Shattuck yesterday.

NEW SUITS

J B Jones began suit against the Portland Real Estate Company in the state circuit court yesterday to recover $500, money received for a sale of plaintiff's real estate for which no accounting has been made.

Wm Resor & Co sued H W Niles & Co to recover $669 24, due on promissory notes.

Frank Buchman has sued the Portland & Willamette Valley Railroad Company for $193 24 for wages due.

THE CHINESE MURDERERS.

On Monday in the criminal court, District Attorney McGinn will move for the disposition of the cases of Chee Gong and Ping Long Dirk, convicted of murder in the first and second degree, respectively, for complicity in the assassination of Lee Lick. The attorneys for the defense in each case were granted time, which was extended to file a bill of exceptions or move for a new trial but nothing has been done in this direction since the conviction of the men.

CARRYING TOO MANY PASSENGERS.

The suit brought against the steamer City of Salem by A A Reed was set down in the United States district court yesterday for trial on April 2. It is charged that on the 4th of July last the steamer carried more passengers from this city to the White House than her license allowed. She is declared to carry about 100, and it is alleged that she carried 700. The fact that she took them there and back in safety cuts no figure in the case.

MINOR COURT NOTES.

Marriage licenses were granted yesterday for R. F Johnson and Rosanna T Burkholder, Gustav K. Olsen and Wilhelmine K Frischkorn.

John Domenico and Antonio Martell, A Donaldi and Vincenzo Ricchieuzo, natives of Italy, and George L Tessington, a native of Great Britain, filed their declarations of intention of becoming citizens yesterday.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Peter Barrett, indicted for assaulting William Ryan with a mason's trowel was tried and acquitted in the criminal court yesterday. August Strom convicted of manslaughty in assaulting was sentenced to the penitentiary for six months. A Thompson and George Wakefield, indicted for burglarizing Hicks's store, were given until to-day and to-morrow respectively, to plead.

THE CONTRACT HAS BEEN LET

There Is No Longer Any Doubt About the Twenty-five Grain Elevators Being Built

The contract for the twenty-five grain elevators, which it was announced in THE OREGONIAN some time since were to be built along the lines of the O R & N Co in Eastern Oregon and Washington this summer has been let by the Pacific Coast Elevator Company to Messrs Simpson & Robinson, of Minneapolis who have had large experience in building elevators.

Mr Robinson is now here making arrangements for beginning work, and will have seventy car loads of lumber delivered in a few days at Lentah, Tyrus, Oakdale and Farmington for the elevators at those places which will be the first to be built. A large lot of machinery for these elevators was shipped from Minneapolis some days since.

There need be no further doubt in regard to the company completing its system of elevators here.

A VERY PLEASANT RECEPTION.

Courtesies Shown to Sailor Lads by the Ladies of the First Presbyterian Church.

A reception was given to the sailors on the vessels in port Wednesday evening by the ladies of the First Presbyterian church, which proved a very pleasant affair and was highly appreciated by the sailors some fifty persons, representing a dozen vessels, were in attendance.

Jack ashore meets with but little attention or kindness as a general thing. He is forced to associate with the class of harpies who make their living by preying on him and about he is the recipient or any courtesy or kind less, it is long remembered. During the entertainment above mentioned a number of the sailor lads favored the audience with vocal selections and discoursed some very good music.

Later in the evening a bountiful lunch was passed around and the ladies of the church spared no pains to make the sailor boys feel at home. Captain Post said it was the most pleasant affair of the kind, as in no other city he ever visited has a reception been tendered especially to sailors. The Watson arrived all there, and as they sailed yesterday they will carry away pleasant memories of Portland and the delightful evening they spent will be remembered in many a lonely watch as they sail over the waters blue.

EAST SIDE REPORTER'S WORK

City Marshal Morgan Has a Very Lively Tussle With Tramps

Pleasant Entertainment at the Y M C A Rooms —Painful Accident—A Family Tempest— The Officers Leaves the Field.

The city marshal had a mighty lively time with tramps yesterday afternoon. He was over at Vancouver in the forenoon but when he returned he got word of several tramps. One had been circulating around in Stephens addition, and we were picked up underneath the repair shop recently erected on Water street by the Portland & Vancouver railroad.

Those last gave the marshal no little trouble. When he went under the building he found the men in a drunken stupor. He went up to the first man and slipped the handcuffs on him, and then turned his attention to the next man. This one was only about half asleep but the officer succeeded in getting the handcuffs on him when he awoke and made a desperate dash at the marshal and came very near striking him in the face, but the latter escaped by a quick dodge. The two tramps were finally taken from their low grounds on the roadway on L street. They objected very forcibly to going to the city jail, but they were put into a handcart and wheeled through the streets, with Marshal Morgan as the propelling power. When that officer attempts anything in that line he generally "gets there."

AMUSEMENT AND SOCIAL.

Wednesday night one of the most pleasant socials that has been given in the Y M C A rooms, took place. The rooms were all comfortably full, there being about seventy people in attendance. The ladies were surrounded by ladies and gentlemen enjoying the games that were recently placed in the rooms. The following short programme was rendered:

Song	Y M C A Glee Club
Recitation	Miss Hattie Ross
Duet	Miss Dalton and Mrs Boden
Song	Y M C A Glee Club

Amusements.

To-night Mr Ira Powers heard the association boys was in need of chairs and yesterday he sent over a large, handsome lot. The association is indebted to the managers of the association for the many amusements and attractions are being added to the rooms every week. Wednesday night, March 20 Rev L D Driver will deliver a lecture on some biblical subject, not yet announced.

A LIVELY ROW

Stephens addition was considerably aroused yesterday afternoon by a lively row in the Nesbett family and better known as the Buckley family. Special Officer Howe was summoned out there, and when he arrived, he found the family in a state of irruption. It seems that most of the members of the family filled up on bad whisky and Neale Buckley struck his mother on the cheek with a wash tub and there was a figurative uproar. The special officer went inside and came outside faster than he went in, chased out by an irate female with a club in hand. He went to the telephone and asked for assistance, but there being none sent out he abandoned the field. It is stated that Mrs. Buckley was seriously hurt by the blow she received.

SHOT THROUGH THE HAND

Wednesday night the 6-year-old son of Mr Lynch, who resides in Tibbetts addition shot himself through the left hand with a 44-caliber revolver, about 8 o'clock in the evening, causing a severe flesh wound and a slight fracture of the bones. Drs. Ellis and Sellwood, who attended the boy say the hand can be saved without any deformity. The boy obtained the pistol in some way, as a boy will, and he thought he had struck a fine plaything.

WANTS TO TRAVEL FASTER.

The Willamette Bridge Railway Company are now compelled to travel very slow on Fifth street over the bridge and are not able to make good time. It is understood that the company will ask of the council for the privelege of trotting the car horses on the bridge. There will probably be no objection.

THE OREGON FEVER IN THE EAST.

Kansas and Nebraska People Preparing to Come West

Richard Martin, jr, of the architect firm of Milwain & Martin returned yesterday from a ten weeks' trip in the East and middle West. He was in Washington and saw President Harrison among urated.

"Wherever I went the people have the Pacific coast fever" said he to a reporter yesterday. "In the extreme East they talk about California, and in the middle Western states it is all Oregon and California.

I visited I saw the illustrations and descriptive articles of Portland, and I do not exaggerate things when I say that this city comes in for a favorable impression in Kansas and Nebraska I ran a gauntlet of questions. People wanted to know how much wheat can be raised on an acre how much wool and other products, and I was kept busy answering. I tell you there is going to be a large immigration from Kansas and Nebraska to Oregon and Washington this year. The people are thoroughly disgusted because of the failure of crops five years in succession. They cannot sell their real estate, but are preparing to leave it and come West.

Mr Martin thinks much good has been accomplished by advertising of Oregon by the immigration board last year, and that the work should be continued.

TWO MEN DROWNED

Cuskie and Clausin Lose Their Lives by the Upsetting of Their Boat

Jacob Cuskie and a man named Clausin were drowned on John Day river, Clatsop county, Monday evening. Clausin was unmarried. Cuskie leaves a wife and an 8 months old child, in a destitute condition.

The men had been employed cutting wood on John Kinney's ranch, and went to Astoria Monday morning. They spent the day drinking and were very drunk when they started for home in a small boat at 5 o'clock that afternoon.

They got up to the mouth of John Day's in their boat, pulled it over one flat, got in again, went as far as another, pulled it over that, and were headed for the channel when two bystanders on the shore saw the boat capsize and a splashing in the water. The men were drowned and the boat, bottom up, and with a portion of its gunwale gone, drifted to shore. A dog which had been with them set out for the shore as soon as the boat capsized.

Cuskie's body was recovered Wednesday afternoon, not far from where he sank. Clausin's body has not been recovered.

CAPTAIN BOYTON'S UNDERTAKING

His Mode of Catching the Festive Seal—A Dangerous Pastime.

The following from Their Astorian explains pretty thoroughly Captain Paul Boyton's mode of procedure while catching the vicious seal and sea lion.

Captain Paul Boyton came down the river yesterday morning and went to Elk creek, where he expects to get a few seals and sea lions. He brought down some of his traps with him, including his famous rubber suit, which, when in use, it is said, makes him look a little like a seal himself. With this suit on, he will float among the seals and after the seals have got used to him he will coax a few of the pluckiest to go with him to Chicago where they will be fed on lake fish.

He doesn't propose to tackle the seals in the water, for a good sized seal would have more fun with him in the water than he would have with the seal. He will sort of play it lazy down on the sand and wait till the seal goes to sleep on the rocks when he will put a sort of rigging over him and send him up here for shipment. The seal will be sulky for a day or so, but will then begin to eat again, unless now and then, when a seal begins to think of his folks and the little seals he's left behind him then he refuses to eat, and might as well be thrown back in the water, if not, he will die.

The captain takes a photographer with him, and will have some interesting pictures of Boyton and the seals snoozing on the rocks. He also has a newspaper man with him to report the whole business for the Chicago newspapers.

If a big bull seal starts to bite Boyton or chase him in the water, the photographer if he is spry enough, can get some very interesting views.

The captain has two troupes of performing seals travelling in the East. They are easy to train and give an interesting exhibition. He has one man in his employ who doesn't do anything but train seals. His brother works for a railroad company and doesn't do anything but seal trains.

THE SEASON OF TRAGEDY

What Several of the Leading Papers Have to Say About Mr. Frederick Warde

Mr Frederick Warde, the distinguished tragedian will commence a week's engagement at the New Park theater Monday evening next. Mr Warde will be supported by a most excellent company, including two leading ladies, Miss Adele Belgarde and Miss Stella Boniface. The repertoire has been selected with a view to merit the full attendance of the theater-going public.

Monday and Tuesday evenings Mr Warde will present "The Mountebank." The Nashville American speaks as follows:

Mr Warde's works are almost entirely emotional for even when he patronizes the lighter roles of comedy there is a heart piercing touch of pitiful pathos that stirs one's soul to the innermost depths and sets the fountains of tears a flowing. Handkerchiefs were in quite evidence last evening and in the desertion scene in the second act, as well as in the fifth act, where the wife, acting under strange and almost inexorable bible influence deems her husband and her child sobbing could be distinctly heard in all parts of the house. Men cried as well as women but higher test of Mr Warde's greatness than that he should call to weep the men of Nashville will frequent theaters and whose eyes are unused to the melting mood? Without doubt, Frederick Warde is the greatest actor Nashville has seen. He is a star of tragedy.

Of Mr Warde's Damon, the Memphis Avalanche has this to say: His Damon is his own. The part gives ample scope for the range of his voice from the sympathetic to the commanding, and he avails himself of the fact. He never acted better than he did last night and the people who played to knew, and they showed their appreciation, by calling him in front of the curtain several times. Mr Warde's William Tell has scored a great triumph. The Washington D C, Bull's Post comments as follows: "In William Tell, last night, Frederick Warde achieved his greatest popular success in Washington thus far. The audience filled the house in every part. It was a brilliant assemblage and great enthusiasm prevailed. The star was recalled at the close of each act, and at the end of the third act he received a triple recall."

The Baltimore American contributes this notice on Mr Warde's Virginius: "His acting was nowhere overstrained nor even in the ordeal before Appius Claudius, which terminates in his taking his daughter's life. This scene was done with an excellent mixture of rage vengeance, pathos, pity and love.

The sale of seats begins this morning at 9 o'clock at Hoyt's and M A Gunst's.

CALIFORNIA TRAINS DELAYED

Washouts on the "Mount Shasta Route" Temporarily Stops Traffic

The effect of the heavy storm that has prevailed during the past week in Northern California, has shown itself between Redding and Mott on the line of the Southern Pacific. Several bad washouts and a few land slides have occurred, which temporarily stops all through trains.

Manager Richard Koehler received a dispatch early yesterday afternoon from General Superintendent Fillmore, stating that it would probably take from thirty six to forty-eight hours to get trains through. The dispatch was sent from San Francisco yesterday morning and came via Ogden. The regular morning train failed to get in on time yesterday morning, but arrived at 1 P M. It was not a through train, but was made up at Mott station, which is situated just this side of Dunsmuir, California. The through train for San Francisco left her East Side station yesterday afternoon on schedule time. The passengers that went out on this train were informed that they were liable to be delayed by the washouts. If the land slides do not get through it will probably be held at Ashland.

Manager Koehler was seen at his residence last evening by an OREGONIAN reporter and asked when he expected to get a train through.

"To-day," he replied. "There is no trouble between here and Mott. The tracks are all clear that far. If the track between Redding and Mott can be cleared in forty-eight hours, as Mr Fillmore predicts, and I have no doubt but what it will, we will get a train out in a afternoon.

A VERY CLOSE CALL.—Tuesday afternoon one of George Broughton's big horses and the new black went off over the bluff on the west side with a load of lumber. Clarence Rands has charge of the team now, and at noon he had changed the horses, putting them on different sides. In going down the hill, with the load of lumber for the Excelsior Works, the recent rain made the load crowd more than usual, and the off horse threw his weight against the other forcing him off over the edge. His weight dragged the other horse after him and the wagon and load followed, going down about forty feet where the horses were piled up in a tangled mass and held down by the wagon. When Rands saw that he could not stop the horses he piled off to the load on the upper side and escaped unharmed. Strange to say, the horses were released unhurt save for a few scratches. Wagon and harness were somewhat broken.—Oregon City Enterprise.

DISHONORABLY DISCHARGED.—General Gibbon under date of March 7, issues a memorandum, in which a personal description of a number of persons who have been dishonorably discharged from the service is given, also the companies to which they belonged. THIS YEAR'S SALMON CATCH A Canneryman Thinks It Will Be as Large as That of 1888.

Foreign Buyers Have Already Made Large Purchases—More Fish Traps Will Be Used This Season Than Ever Before.

"What is the outlook for the coming salmon packing season on the Lower Columbia?" asked an OREGONIAN reporter, yesterday, of J O Jantzen, the Astoria canneryman.

"There is not much to complain of, I think," was the reply. "I have figured out that twenty three canneries will open up when the season begins. Some will combine with others and do all the packing at one cannery, using the idle canneries for fishing stations. Everybody seems to be making extensive preparations for the opening of the season."

"How large do you estimate the pack for 1889?"

"It will be about the same as last year—350,000 cases. Some claim that this year's pack will be light on account of snow on the mountains. One thing is certain when the weather is steady the run of fish is steady and unbroken. When there is a freshet the fish stay outside the bar and sport in the fresh water, when the freshet subsides they come in steadily."

Has much of this year's pack been sold in advance?"

"Very little for the domestic trade, but the foreign buyers have made pretty large purchases. Last year the domestic buyers were the first in the market. The prices paid this year are $1 60 for domestic and $1 67½ for foreign shipment, f. o. b. at Astoria. I think that little or none of last year's Columbia river pack has been held over. There is considerable of the fall pack of outside rivers and bays on hand and I understand that there are 40 000 cases in the O R & N dock at Astoria."

Is there any prospect of trouble between the canserymen and the fishermen?

"I think not. The fishermen have fixed their prices at $1 for flash caught in cannery boats, and $1 25 for those taken by owned boats, and the canners will accept the figures. The canners will inaugurate a new plan this year, and instead of charging the men $40 a season for the use of boats they will charge them one to the men. As there are about 900 boats on the river, this system will make a difference of about $36 000 in the way of additional expense to the canners. This plan was made early in a year by some of the canneymen, with a view of getting better fishermen. The number of boats on the river has been largely decreased by sales and condemnation during the year, and more fish traps will be used this year than ever before."

PORTLAND, FRIDAY, MARCH 15.

OVERDOING A THING.

The Baltimore Sun's eulogy of "Honest Grover" has been out long enough for all the faithful to get it by heart, and may be considered as the final palinode of the Grover Cleveland party. There used to be a Jackson democracy, but the campaign of 1888 showed only a Cleveland democracy; Jeffersonian democracy was a myth that died off in the long ago.

Whoever has studied the late campaign and understands anything of its leading features will understand that the Baltimore Sun proves too much. "The democratic party is a grand party and was never in better shape than at present." This of a party that suffered defeat with all odds in its favor and its adversary handicapped in every way, Democracy had the public patronage and was in full possession; it had the Solid South and no dissensions to weaken it at the North. With all this it was defeated, and its defeated candidate talks as above.

"Democracy was not defeated by the tariff issue. Had certain conditions been eliminated from the campaign we would have won a decisive victory." Here is whistling to keep the courage up. The only conditions that could have been eliminated were the republican majorities in New York and Indiana. Cleveland to the last carried out his vague idea that a "condition" confronts him. So far he was consistent, but he never could decide the nature of the "condition."

"His supposed political aspirations do not exist;" and yet he is said to be even planning his residence so that he will not be complicated by any relations to New York factions, and the fact that such factions exist is actively comment on the "good shape" of the "grand party."

He "advocates the civil service system" and believes "the example of his administration has fixed this reform as a permanent feature of our system of government." As acts speak louder than words there is no need to discuss his sincerity in this utterance.

He "is especially gratified at the effect of his administration on the prosperity and happiness of the Southern people, both black and white;" and, further, "the race problem can be worked out by the people of that section without interference." Of course it can, but how? All the South asks is contained in the two words, "without interference." As to the prosperity of the South, it comes from natural causes, and it is not easy to see how Cleveland has made "blacks and whites" "prosperous and happy."

"He was unable to satisfy the great horde of aspirants for office, because he had a higher public duty to perform, the purification and elevation of the public service." "The defeat of democracy is deplored because of the injury resulting to public interests," and "in view of the jobbery and scheming that permeated every department of the public service, under former regimes, and which seem to have become a permanent feature of official life in Washington." But this sounds rather weak in view of the fact that his administration searched through all the records of his predecessors during a quarter of a century, after making a victorious campaign on the plea that the government had been, and was yet, corrupt, and was unable to pick a flaw, much less prove any dishonor or dishonesty, as its own journals now confess." The brightest page of recent republican history is the blank leaf that stands undefaced, whereon democracy intended to write its indictment of the republican party's crimes and misdemeanors during its long lease of power. So long as this is so, no argument is needed to show that all this boasting is mere rhodomontade: that to-day, because its past career shines so bright through the test of Cleveland's administration, the republican party is stronger and the democratic party weaker than at any time since the war. The record puts Harrison in a splendid position properly to serve the American people.

THE VETO DISPOSITION.

Mr. Cleveland, during the four years of his presidential term, vetoed directly 278 bills and allowed fourteen bills to fall by "pocket veto." He certainly earned distinction as far as it goes in this line, as all of his predecessors in office combined vetoed only 133 bills. Washington found it necessary to veto but two bills, and his two immediate successors did not use the veto power at all. President Johnson, who like Cleveland, considered himself wiser than the assembled wisdom of congress, used the veto power with a frequency at that time unprecedented, vetoing fifty bills during his term. History, both state and national, shows that men of careful and deliberate judgment find comparatively little use for the exercise of the veto power, while "cranks," pugnacious men, and men wise in their own conceit are prone, as presidents and governors, to make reckless use of the opportunity that circumstance has given them to set up their individual opinions against those of a legislative body.

We all know such men in private life. In their own estimation they are as infallible in affairs as is the pope in faith and morals, in the estimation of the faithful Catholic. Such persons are disagreeable everywhere, but not necessarily mischievous, since, unless they happen to possess power in some direction, their opinions have very little weight. The majority of such men are forced to content themselves with vetoing the plans of their wives and children, and dissenting when an affable neigabor ventures, without previous consultation, to assert that the day is fine. It is only when one, by mistake of the people, gets into the presidential or gubernatorial chair, that the veto disposition becomes a public annoyance, or upon occasion a public calamity.

Lane county Pomona grange, at a recent meeting, passed resolutions endorsing the legislative record of the three representatives of that county who voted against Bull Run water, and forgot to mention the name of the man who voted for it. Was there some reason, after all, for the refusal of the State Temperance Alliance, at its recent session, to allow representatives of granges, a seat in that body on purely temperance grounds?

James A. Campbell, of Alabama, whose death was announced on the 12th inst., was associate justice of the United States supreme court from 1853 to 1861 when he resigned to join the Southern Confederacy. Jeff Davis made him assistant secretary of war and he, with Alexander H. Stephens and R. M. T. Hunter, made up the famous peace commission that met President Lincoln at Hampton Roads in January, 1865.

As all sensible and well-balanced people knew, the rumor about the destruction of an American vessel by the Germans at Samoa was merely sensational and without any kind of foundation. The rumor owed its inception and circulation to fraudulent journalism. There will be no war between the United States and Germany. There is too much good sense in both countries, and there is nothing to fight about.

Insanity and smallpox do not form a very desirable combination; hence it is exceedingly gratifying to learn that there is no danger of the disease spreading among the inmates of the asylum. The officers of that institution have been prompt and thorough in dealing with the unwelcome intruder.

The semi-monthly publication known as Printers' Ink, issued by George P. Rowell & Co., New York, is a bright little pamphlet, very useful to publishers and advertisers. It contains information for the former and suggestions for the latter of high value. There is no other publication of its kind, so far as we are aware, that exhibits so much insight, or is so practical and suggestive.

THEORY AND PRACTICE IN FARMING.

Oregon is not alone in the enjoyment of an expensive institution known as an "agricultural college" that bears little relation to agriculture, or anything else but an extensive expense account with the state. The Omaha Bee asserts that with "a record of fourteen graduates in fifteen years for the Nebraska school of agriculture, no one can have the hardihood to say that the school has ever been anything but an expensive and useless burden to the state." Theoretical and practical farming do not go on well together. The latter keeps up the fences and raises the crops in the plain, old-fashioned way dictated by common sense and inforced by experience, while the former spends time and money in experiment. The people pay for the "instruction of young men" in the latter; the individual farmer performs the labor incident to the former, pays his help and himself out of the proceeds and teaches his boys to plow, sow and gather into barns without expense to the state.

The time has gone by in which it was necessary for a farmer to be ignorant of books, and for his boys to be illiterate and uncouth simply because of their vocation. Education is a valuable auxiliary to success in any sphere of life, but the district school six months in the year, near enough to permit the boys to board at home, and actual work upon the farm the remaining six will turn out farmers whose educational advantages have been at least equal to those of many politicians and professional men and who can earn a living and save money on the farm, where the agricultural college farmer, whose sole dependence is on a theoretical knowledge of his vocation will make an utter failure.

DIED.

At 61 Charles hotel, Sunday, March 10, 1889, Rosebud Smith, only child of Mr. L. N. Smith of Baker City, Oregon, aged 11 years, 3 months and 12 days.

Little Rosebud was born at The Dalles in 1877, and of late years has resided with her mother at Baker City, where her grandparents and other relatives now live. But a few days prior to her death she arrived with her mother in this city, on a visit, and was attacked with an illness that baffled the skill of those until death relieved her from her sufferings. The best medical skill in the city was summoned to attend her, six of the leading physicians being at her bedside during the last hours, but every effort proved unavailing, and on last Sunday she passed away. Rosebud, with a naturally affectionate and sweet disposition, endeared herself to all who knew her, and her untimely death has not forever, and with the fortitude of a Christian she prepared to answer the final summons that separated her from all that was dear to her on earth. On Monday last the gentle form of the little sufferer was laid in peaceful rest at Riverside cemetery, passing away to penetrate the mysterious confines of that unknown land lies beyond the grave. Rest, little Rosebud, rest.

WHERE'S ESDENDALE?

Edendale is that charming meadow that lies just beyond Sunnyside and adjoining William Beck's celebrated tract known as Rosedale.

The Sunnyside motor line is now being graded along the northern line of Edendale. One third of the lots in this superb tract lie on Rosedale avenue along which the motor line runs. The other lots range in distance from the motor line from 125 feet to 30 feet.

Pure, sparkling water can be had all over this tract at a depth of from 12 feet to 15 feet.

The lots in Edendale will vary in size from 100x100 feet to 28x100 feet. They will vary in price from $200 to $1000, according to size. These lots are all superb. There is not a poor one among them. The terms of payment will be easy. The number of lots is limited, about 70 full size in all. They will be put upon the market next week. Wait for them.

PORTLAND AND VICINITY.

LET THEM COME.—Quite an excitement has been created in military circles here by the statement that the crack company here is soon to be challenged for a competitive drill by the Tacoma Guards. It is supposed that the guards consider Company C as their meat, but the opinion among the boys here is that Company I is good enough to stand all the competition necessary in this case. These competitive drills are very good to keep up the spirits of the companies, and now that we have a fine drill squad here, the First regiment will be pleased to have any company from any other city come and contest for the palm of superiority, and if they can win the prize they will be welcome to it.

STRUCK A BONANZA.—A large quantity of 12-inch, 8-inch and 6-inch sewer pipe has been hauled out during the past two weeks to put in 7500 feet of sewers, providing drainage for every lot in the Second Electric addition. These are the first sewers for East Portland or any of its additions, and owners of lots in this addition struck a bonanza when they purchased, as the drainage is put in without cost to them. This will not be the case with future purchasers, as we shall advance the price of lots $100 each as soon as the sewers are complete, which will be in about thirty days. These lots are each 50 by 132 feet, all clear, many of them fruited. They face on Caitlin avenue, which is eighty feet wide, and are close to and convenient to Hawthorne avenue. The terms are $10 down and $10 a month, without interest. This is within the reach of all. The Portland Real Estate Company, 42½ Washington street.

THOSE SINGING BIRDS.—Four hundred marks was forwarded yesterday by Mr. Frank Dekum to the man in Germany, who is to start in a few weeks with the singing birds ordered by some of our German citizens. In addition to the birds heretofore ordered, a number of crossbills are to be brought out. These birds are supposed to have a faculty of attracting and absorbing all the ague fever malaria and other diseases which may be lurking around the house where they are kept. They are, therefore, very handy to have in the house, like Mrs. Toodles's coffin. With one of these birds, a mad stone and a hazel divining rod any man should be able to make home happy.

TWO SHEEP—FUGITIVES.—Yesterday afternoon two sheep broke away from a band at the corner of Jefferson and Second streets and ran down Second. A foxy-looking shepherd dog ran after them, and at the corner of Madison they separated. The dog endeavored to follow them both, but had to give it up, so he ran one of them down Madison to First and right into W. W. Spaulding's shop, where one of the employes seized it. As soon as the dog saw that the sheep was safe he started out after the other and ran back to Second and disappeared down that street. Just what he did with the second sheep is not known, but it is safe to say that he brought it "in the row."

SERENITY ON THE LOWER RIVER.—An Astoria gentleman, who is in the city, says that the feeling against Portland, aroused by the passage of the pilotage and seamen's bills, which the local papers expressed in terms to be found only in the most unabridged of unabridged dictionaries, has entirely subsided, and tranquility again reigns from Tongue Point to Scarborough Head. "I think," said he, "that the pilotage law was one of the best laws ever enacted by a legislature, and I think further that it will benefit the whole state. It is my opinion that the Astoria people have about come to this conclusion."

HE COMES TO STAY.—Yesterday Mr. John Mackie and family arrived here via the Canadian Pacific, direct from bonny Scotland. He came all the way from Edinburgh, and proposes to make Portland his future home. He has been engaged for some years in the grain business in the old country. Although born and raised in the "Land o' Cakes," Mr. Mackie will cast his lot among the sklets of the webfoot state. Thus far his impressions of the city are very favorable. He is staying for the present with his brother, Mr. Henry Mackie, of the firm of Thompson, De Hart & Co.

ARE EVIDENTLY IMPOSTORS.—Archbishop William H. Gross makes the following statement, to which the attention of all Catholics is called: We are informed that parties representing themselves as Catholic Sisters are collecting money in this city and elsewhere in this archdiocese. All Catholics are hereby warned that no collections can be made in this archdiocese for any Catholic charity without permission of the archbishop. No one has such permission at present, and the Sisters above referred to are evidently impostors.

HE WAS OUT OF LUCK.—Frederick Warde, the tragedian, who will appear in this city next week, met with a heavy loss very recently. While in Los Angeles $1600 worth of first-class tickets were stolen from him. After waiting in that city a day or two in expectation that the thief would be apprehended, he was compelled to invest another $1600 to get himself and company out of town. The thief had not been detected at latest accounts and doubtless has disposed of the tickets he purloined long before now.

PRESENTED A SILVER TROWEL.—Rev. P. F. Gibney, who is to be pastor of the new St. Patrick's church, yesterday presented Archbishop Gross a silver trowel. The inscription on the trowel, which is as follows, explains the purpose for which it will be used: "Presented to Most Reverend Archbishop W. H. Gross by Rev. Patrick F. Gibney on the occasion of the laying of the corner stone of St. Patrick's church, March 17, 1889."

GRAND OPENING.—New and fashionable goods in large quantities are daily arriving direct from New York and San Francisco at the millinery parlors of Miss A. S. Jurgenson, 165 First street. Spring opening will take place March 21 and 22, at which time the ladies of Portland and vicinity are invited to inspect the largest stock of millinery ever displayed in Portland.

COMPANY C'S ELECTION.—At the meeting of Company C, O. N. G., Colonel Beebe presiding, last night, First Sergt. George O. Yoran was elected second Lieutenant, vice Case, elected first Lieutenant of Company I. It will be noticed that the company did not go outside its ranks to fill the vacancy, preferring to select official material from its own members.

AN EGG THIEF ARRESTED.—James Simms, who escaped from an officer who does duty for the Boys' and Girls' Aid Society, who had undertaken to find a home for him, was arrested by Officer Thomas yesterday afternoon for stealing eggs in North Portland. The youth, who is only about 12 years old, bears the stamp already of a hardened criminal.

STILL AT LARGE.—Postal Inspector Trentland returned yesterday from the Cowlitz country where he went to secure some clue to the person who "held up" the mail carrier between Castle Rock and Tuttle a few days since. He brought back the remains of a registered package which was what the robber was after, but the robber is still at large.

APPROACHING COMPLETION.—The boiler and engines for the new light draught boat being constructed by the O. R. & N. Co. for the Upper Willamette are approaching completion at the Smith & Watson Iron Works. The engines are very handsome ones, 14x20, and the Olds steel boiler has a 56-inch shell.

WITH THE AID OF CRUTCHES.—Lew Cone, a member of Hook and Ladder Company No. 2, who was injured by the breaking of the truck while on the way to the recent fire in Alisky's candy factory, was seen on the streets yesterday. He is much improved, but will "lay low" for a few days yet.

YOUTHS' SUITS for ages 11 to 18 years. Kohn has open his entire spring stock. Prices range from $6 to $12 for suits that are the best values ever offered for the price. Parents wanting extra good bargains should call at Second and Morrison streets.

SEWING MACHINERY, ETC., FOR SALE.—See advertisement of George T. Myers. Those wishing to engage in that kind of business will do well to make an examination of the property advertised at the Molson brewery building, on Ninth and D streets.

FRUIT GROWERS' UNION.—Articles incorporating the Oregon Fruit Growers' Union were filed with the county clerk yesterday by J. E. Cardwell, S. A. Clarke, E. W. Allen, O. P. S. Plummer and H. E. Dosch. Capital, $2000.

THE STEAMER ALLIANCE having been detained by stormy weather, her time of sailing is uncertain—probably Sunday. Freight will be received Saturday for points on Shoalwater bay and Gray's harbor.

TEA TO-NIGHT AT GRACE M. E. CHURCH.—The ladies of Grace church will give a missionary tea to-night from 6 to 8 o'clock, to be followed by a social and literary programme. Tea 25 cents.

CAPTAIN CARDWELL BETTER.—Captain of Police Richard Cardwell, who has been off duty for several days suffering from a severe attack of rheumatism, was reported yesterday much better.

SALE OF SCHOOL SHOES.—J. Selling & Co. will offer to-morrow genuine goat buttoned shoes, Nos. 5 to 8, for 85c.; 8 to 11, for $1, and 11 to 2, for $1 25. These prices hold good only during the sale.

CITY TREASURER MONNASTES is now preparing the delinquent city tax roll to turn over to the chief of police for collection.

COLLECTING TAXES.—Up to last night Sheriff Kelly had collected $120,000 taxes. About $263,000 more remains to be collected.

AS USUAL.—Steamer Lurline leaves foot of Taylor street at 5 o'clock to-night for Astoria.

Priestley's Silk Warp Henriettas

Are the most thoroughly reliable goods in the market. They are made of the finest silk and best Australian wool. You can easily distinguish them by their softness and beauty and regularity of finish. They are always the same in quality, weight, width and shade, thus enabling you to match any piece, and are dyed in two standards of black. None genuine unless rolled on the "Varnished Board," showing the grain of the wood, which is the Priestley Trade-Mark.

PRIESTLEY'S

BLACK SILK WARP HENRIETTAS

Are always reliable. You will consult your own best interests when purchasing Black Silk Warp Goods to accept no other than Priestley's. You will always find them on our counters. Whatever is good is imitated. Beware of imitations.

Re-Dyed Black Henrietta Cloth.

There is one item which is very important to buyers of black goods. The popularity of the highest grade silk warp Henrietta cloths has been such that there have been some difficulty in supplying the demand for them. At the same time there has been very large invoices of colored silk warp Henrietta cloths in all fashionable shades. Many of these latter, especially those in light tints, have been found by merchants to be less salable than they hoped for, and numbers of the less desirable shades have been left on their hands. In order to utilize this surplus stock, these goods have been sent to the dyers and dyed black. It is a well understood fact that such materials, when dyed in the wool, are much more likely to keep their color than those that are piece dyed. Purchasers, therefore, who desire durability as well as elegance, should take particular pains to ascertain whether or not their fine fabrics are re-dyed shop-soiled goods, or the genuine fiber-dyed materials that will stand the test of time, exposure and hard usage.

Buy Priestley's Goods and you are sure of an honest article every time.

PORTLAND, FRIDAY MARCH 15

CHANGES IN THE INTER-STATE LAW.

An act making a number of amendments to the interstate commerce law was passed by congress and approved by the president during the last days of the recent session The changes are not very radical and are mainly such as were recommended by the commission to supply defects found in the administration of the law For a summary of the amendments we are indebted to the Railroad Gazette viz

The most important amendments are those in sections 6 and 10 These are (1) a provision that tariffs shall not be reduced without three days notice, (2) a series of detailed arrangement for full publication of joint tariffs (3) the addition of imprisonment as a possible penalty for officials in flagrant cases of discrimination, (4) a provision to hold shippers as well as railroad agents liable for false description of goods and making it a criminal offense to give or all road agent pecuniary inducements to violate the law

The other changes deal with matters of detail Section 12 is so amended as to define more accurately the powers of the commission in compelling the presentation of evidence Section 14, in its new form, sanctions the arrangements for printing opinions in the same way as is done by the regular courts. Section 16 is so amended as to prescribe and legalize the procedure of the commission in cases requiring trial by jury The amendments to section 18 removed the commission's dependence on the secretary of the interior, and make it, in form as well as in fact, an independent body All these things emphasize the change in the character of the commission as compared with what was originally expected. It is no mere administrative body, it has become a court The law is simply conforming to the facts of the case, and giving the commission powers which it has earned—many of which it has practically assumed in advance of distinct legislative authority Section 22 is changed so as to provide more specifically for the right to make reduced rates for certain classes of indigent persons but nothing is added which might not perhaps have been allowed under a very broad construction of the original act. Two additional sections make i more clearly the duty of the commission and the United States authorities to take action in cases which might otherwise have been left to their discretion.

To its summary of the changes the Railroad Gazette adds this comment viz "The amendments are quite as noticeable for the ground which they do not cover as for that which they do They do not bring water routes or express companies under the same control as railroads They do not endeavor to define through rates more accurately, or to enable one carrier to compel others to enter into through arrangements Some changes of this sort might have been wise, but on the whole we think it was quite as well not to undertake too much work of this kind An amendment to a law is apt to open more points than it settles and the work of interpreting the interstate commerce law and adapting ourselves to its provisions will probably go on more readily if comparatively few changes are made in the substance of the act.'

TO PROTECT CHILD LABORERS.

Many of the Eastern states that contain large manufacturing cities—notably Connecticut and Massachusetts—have wise and humane laws for the protection of children from the necessity or greed that without such protection turns them into machines in their early childhood and causes sordid or needy parents to measure their value merely by their capacity as wage-earners

The state first named is experimenting with a law that limits the labor of women and children in factories to sixty hours a week and a compulsory education law that requires all the children of the common wealth to attend school during a specified portion of the year until the age of 13 years is reached While the first-named law is generally regarded and its enforcement is not difficult, the provisions of the second are resented by many, parents as an unwarrantable interference with their special prerogatives and various subterfuges are resorted to in order to evade it.

Factory communities are working communities often in the hand to mouth sense that requires children at an early age to begin to contribute to the family maintenance It is for this reason that compulsory education laws are considered necessary in such communities Parents among whom are many foreigners who are themselves illiterate and have no appreciation of the importance of educating their children contend bitterly against the interference of the state in the matter Boys and girls, from 10 to 12 years old and even younger make deft and reliable hands in many departments of factory labor and can command wages which are relatively good and which irresponsible parents, whose homes swarm with more children than they can feed and clothe comfortably think they cannot afford to lose by sending the little laborers to school That the enforcement of laws limiting hours of labor and substituting the schoolroom for the factory for several months in each year for a useful class of laborers works individual hardship in many cases is no doubt true But the state is firm in the belief that temporary distress from this cause will in a vast majority of cases result in benefits that will be permanent to the individual and the community

The fact that physical weakness is forced to contend side by side with strength in the solution of the great problem of what shall we eat and wherewithall shall we be clothed is a sad one and one that commands the greatest sympathy It is a fact, nevertheless, and as inexorable as destiny Under the goading spur of necessity women work at labor ill befitting their strength until physical wreck results Children, driven by the same cruel spur are made old before their time and deprived of educational advantages by which they alone can hope to escape the dreary routine of hopeless toil that is their heritage. To prevent this and at the same time to relieve the overcrowded ranks of labor in manufacturing communities, these laws have been enacted Their benefits must necessarily be slow but if they are moderate in a degree conditions that can never be wholly overcome they will accomplish all that practical philanthropy hopes for them

If we were to judge of the agricultural wealth of the state of Ohio by the figures at which the commissioner of labor for that state places the mortgage indebtedness on farms, we would be compelled to believe that it is very poor indeed From these, it appears that the enormous sum of $375 000 000 is thus employed. The value of all agricultural lands in the state, improved and unimproved in 1887, was but $720,000,000. It is probable, however, that these sums merely show a discrepancy, not unusual, between assessors' estimates and actual values as shown by mortgages, with the counterpart of which the people of Oregon are moderately familiar.

ALBINA'S CONTRIBUTIONS.

Special School Meeting—Interesting Lecture—Street Grading—On a Visit—Increasing

The School Board of Charities of district 81 held a special meeting Wednesday evening, at the Albina school house.

The following directors were present C C Grimes, chairman, George Heath and William Donlan, and T W Bleick, clerk.

The chairman stated that the object of the meeting was for the purpose of considering bids for letting the contract for finishing up a room in the Central school building, as Mr A J Rocka fellow, who was the lowest bidder, and therefore entitled to the contract, refused to do the work claiming that he had made a mistake and asked an additional price of $50 to complete said work

The question arose whether it would be better to allow the $50 or let the contract go to the next highest bidder

A motion was made by director Donlan that all bids be rejected and that the central school building be completed as originally planned

The motion carried and the clerk, T W Bleick was authorized to advertise for bids for said work. He was also instructed to buy and find the original specification or make new ones for that portion of the work

Mr D McLaughlin appeared before the board of directors in behalf of Miss Boggs stating that she was ready to be sworn in as school clerk for this district and also presented her bonds. The chair man stated that the clerk-elect had already been sworn in and no action could be taken

Mr McLaughlin requested the board to examine Miss Boggs's bonds and see if they were good. The board did so

Director Donlan then moved that Miss Boggs, having presented herself and bonds that the bonds after examining, were found sufficient and good that the direction of the district reject the same on account of having already duly installed Mr Bleick into office as clerk of district 81, Multnomah county The motion was carried

There being no further business the meeting adjourned

Captain R E East of St. Paul, Minn master painter of the Northern Pacific railroad was in Albina last week on a trip of both business and pleasure. He expressed himself well pleased with the improvements in Albina and intended to visit the Sound and other points of interest in the Northwest

The Oregon's Cargo—The Hulbert Departs—The Alliance Overdue—Movements of Ships

The steamer Oregon which arrived in port Wednesday evening commenced discharging her cargo of about 1100 tons of freight at her dock yesterday About 350 tons of her cargo will be loaded into a barge, to be shipped to the interior

The Oakalhama, which arrived with the British bark Gairloch Wednesday evening, left down for the seaward this forenoon at 10 o'clock morning, and was expected up early last evening.

The steamer Wonder left Astoria at 7 o'clock yesterday morning with the schooner Marion in tow The Marion will load lumber at Weidler's mill

The E N Cook left down at daybreak yesterday with the C Southard Hulbert in tow

The steamer Alliance was due early yesterday afternoon but as she had not been reported by the Merchant's exchange at the hour she was due here, it is likely that she is detained somewhere by the terrific weather, which is reported as prevailing along the coast.

The steamer Mountain started yesterday on her run on the upper Willamette, which was abandoned some time ago on account of low water

The German bark Adele was moved from her moorings at the foot of K street yesterday to the O & C. East Side dock where she will take on her stiffening of ballast wheat

The Oakalhama will leave down this morning at daylight with the S P W son in tow

The British bark Percy Rose will be moved up from Albina to Victoria dock to take on stiffening to-day

The Merchants Exchange reports that the steamer Danube crossed out from Astoria at 6 P M Wednesday

The City of Carlisle will be moved from Green wich dock to-day to Montgomery s dock where she will finish loading wheat

KENO NEWS.

The Syndicate Pushing Things—Project of a Market Brightens Again—Philosophical Cattle Kings—The Old Grindstone Millers

KENO, Or., March 12.

A heavy southeast gale has been sweeping through the Klamath basin since Thursday with heavy showers on Thursday night, followed by cloudy weather which continues up to date

Spring sowing will occupy considerable additional ground this season owing to the proximity of the new flour mill and for the same reason large bottles of wheat will not be broken for wheat sowing in the fall

The Lost river steamboat canal is advancing rapidly under the superintendence of Frank Adams The water course is very important to Keno, being the door through which the hobby town will receive the grain and the patronage of Lost river

Mr McLaughlan, a representative of the Wisconsin lumber syndicate, is around buying all the timber land he can induce owners to sell Last week he and Mr Rankin, as representatives of the Klamath River Improvement Company, appeared before the county court asking that seat of justice to declare the Klamath river and all other local streams public highways also to give the company they represented the contract for improving the same

The style of cattle king this season is philosophical It is something so fresh and sweet in regal make up as to be highly interesting Instead of greeting the investing home seeker with a murderous frown, the ruler of the cow valleys extends the friendly hand and says in my my fence, instead of tearing it down You shall have it cheaper'n you can build one Let's help each other Determined to know all about this phenomenon I interviewed Mr John Fairchilds, a stock farmer whose ranch extends east and north from the famous lava beds

You don't intend to stem the tide of home-seeking invasion, I perceive'

Seem nothing The power of the United States is three times that of France two and a half times that of Germany and equal to the power of Germany and Great Britain combined The back of that power has an immunity of hair to bristle up at a fellow I don't want to irritate the creature I was here when the Modocs fought against fate and fell I believe in turning defeat into victory for all the parties engaged.

In what way?

"By struggling coolly, rationally for what is best all around Let the invaders come They take away my government grass but I still have an immensity of deeded land As it is first-class soil, I can sell half and put the cash in bank With the other half I can raise fewer but finer stock and farm on a large scale I help settle up the country by selling land at a reasonable price. The buyers help me by developing the country's resources and thus inducing others to come. My half of the deeded land becomes in time worth much more than the whole, stock and all We all have, when the country is settled, more loaves and fishes than when we first opened the picnic"

"I will the country be settled soon?

"Rapidly It will cost but little to drain the great Klamath basin, and when that is done the basin will be a greater and richer stock valley than Washoe. It has a larger area, better soil and water advantages. With its hundreds of feed yards, each yard containing from 20 to 500 head of cattle, with its sweet, green grass for summer and plenty of hay for winter with hundreds of laborers on ranches gardens and bonanzas—why, sir the Washoe valley will be badly outshone.

It will be interesting to many to learn that a few of the old time millers of the East, whom the opposition of the giant modern roller-mills drove out of the business years ago are yet alive yea, and kicking Through their ancient spectacles they have read their hostile papers Keno letter published some time ago in THE OREGONIAN, and they are writing to Keno to know whether this community will set them up in their ancient 'custom mill' business, they complain that, though forty years in the business they have not become wealthy, the old grindstone millers being more upright in dealing than the roller men of these degenerate days The invariable reply of the postmaster is, 'No we are about to be supplied with a large roller mill The mere mention of the hated giant concern is a cruel dig in the poor old ribs, but the truth must be told Truth like the poor old millers themselves has uncommon tenacity of vitality and in the East and she fain would s thereof up in the West

PERSONAL.

Mayor Henry Blackman of Heppner, is in the city, on his way home from California

Mr W C Owen who is well known to business men as formerly manager for Messrs. Pickens, Fulton & Co., will for the future represent Messrs. E V Andrews & Co in their real estate and insurance business

AN APPROPRIATE EXHIBIT—Since the announcement in these columns of the fact that the manufacturers who had promised Secretary Struble an exhibit of their products could now find plenty of room several hundred feet in examples of their products The handsomest and most exhibit received thus far was from State Senator J C Carson who sent in his yesterday afternoon Senator Carson's fruit bulletin is entitled thereto It is something after the pattern of a crazy quilt (in wood instead of cloth) it being made of the different varieties of Oregon wood, with a miniature stained glass window Specimens of redwood, yellow pine, maple ash Port Orford cedar and sugar pine handsomely polished and varnished.

POSITIVELY THE LAST PERFORMANCE.—Only three more performances of "A Night Off" by August n Daly s excellent company, including tomorrow's matinee This is one of the best comedy companies ever visiting Portland, and if the weather permits the New Park theater should be filled to overflowing

OREGON.

Miss Della Mascher, of Silverton, died Tuesday, aged 25, of consumption

Somebody in Lincoln has filed a homestead on the coast house block there says the Star

Roseburg, not to be outdone by other cities of the valley, is preparing to put in a system of water works.

Joseph McKay, of Baker City, jumped from the train a few days ago, while making at the rate of fifty miles an hour, receiving no serious injury

Lake County Examiner "Push," the noble (?) chieftain of the greasy Plutes, of this section, has paid the debt of nature, and is now said to be a good Indian

Weekly Leader Of the 1000 shares of the capital stock of the Henrietta Flouring Mills and Manufacturing Company, at Echo, 580 have been subscribed and work will soon be commenced on the erection of the mill.

The sheriff of Malheur country captured a crazy man last week who is there and took him to the asylum. The man s name was Jones, and he came from Sacramento. His hallucination was that he was Jesus Christ

Heppner Gazette From all over Eastern Oregon there are favorable reports concerning both fall and spring sowing Especially is this the case in Morrow county, where partial failures have been experienced for the last three years. A warm, open winter, with a little moisture thrown in here and there, has put crops in a condition to grow, and the hard working and much deserving rancher looks happy over the prospect They agree it at a few good rains will be all that is now required. A big harvest will lift our rancher friends out of the hard times which they have drifted during the past three years.

Mortgage Tax Law

TYGH VALLEY, Or., March 12.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Please inform an ignorant subscriber as to the mortgage tax law Who is required to pay the taxes, the person who makes the mortgage or the person who owns the same, or do both parties pay a tax?

J. McCLELLAN.

[The person who owns the mortgage is popularly supposed to pay the tax upon it in fact the law says he shall do so, but some men who have given mortgages upon their farms appear to think they pay enough more for their money by reason of this law to more than pay for the taxes]

A Dangerous Experiment.

Salem Statesman Miss Lizzie Young, of Independence, came near to crossing the silent river Monday She swallowed a pill which had lain a long time in a match box and had doubtless absorbed all the poisonous gas thereof, which resulted in a terrible fit of sickness The utmost skill of the physicians was necessary to her resuscitation, but she is now all right and will go without medicine for a long time before she takes another pill out of a match box.

SCHOME.

NG THE CENTER OF THE SHORE CIRCLE
N WHICH THE CLUSTER OF FOUR TOWNS ARE BUILT.

ality of Schome gives it the advantage
when at Whatcom or Bellingham you
w Schome, and if, going in on the bay, f Schome is very pretty. One very happy sts, and that is these four towns are not each other. The stranger is not driven rough fear that existing jealousies will defeat the bay town from growing. It ows that to build a great city here
t must occur—neither of the four can badly hurt or left. The big city must follow the shore line all of the four towns, and this gives real value to all of the property. No one familiar with the growth of Puget sound cities in the past, can deny that Bellingham Bay has fairer prospects now, with its three new railroads, than any other town had at a parallel age, and Schome must come in for her share. There are certain elements that build great cities—but above all else there must first be an energetic people. A few good, live, honorable men can accomplish more practical good than a regiment of do-nothings. Schome possesses some of these live men. It is such firms as Wally & Fenton, whose energy and push in buying and selling real estate and in pushing Schome's interests that first gave life to the activity now prevailing. They know this real estate market and every piece of good property in it, and are recognized as a live firm.

Lowery & Robles, the clothiers, is another of Schome's prominent and successful firms. They are pushers in business, whose faith in their adopted home is shown in the capital they invest here in their business. They adopt a well-known business rule, which is to carry everything in their line of the best and in all varieties, giving their patrons no excuse to deal elsewhere. When Schome, in the near future, becomes a city, his firm will be found to have grown apace with it, and their store and stock will be as big proportionately, if not larger than the coming city.

R. J. Morse represents the vigor and determination that successful men in successful cities are made of. His stock of hardware is larger than is usually found in towns of this size. An Eastern money-lender once said that his decision to loan money in large amounts in Western communities was influenced by the type and character of the business men in the locality, as if the leaders who made the country. Mr. Morse is just such a man as the above refers to, and his business will attract newcomers. If the latter class, or home-seekers, were to write Mr. Morse for his opinion of Schome as a business place they would be told the truth. This gentleman is really valuable to Schome.

Of course, if you visit Schome and are there on hotel day, you won't find a place of shelter, if not a place to get a meal. Ask, on your arrival, for D. R. Buntoon's hotel. After you have found it the rest will take care of itself, for he knows how to take care of you. Any way, the visitor views Schome, its prospects, schools and location with more favor after Mr. Buntoon has cared for him than he does prior to a visit to his hotel. Mr. Buntoon is one Schome's active citizens and an acquisition to the place.

Hon. Reginald Jones is a prominent factor to Schome. This gentleman is a member of a titled family in England, and aside from that fact, he is an educated and pleasant gentleman whose faith in Schome is of no minor moment. His residence here is an indication of the possible future of this growing city, for he is reported as influenced in his residence by the almost certain prospect of great and rapid growth of Schome. What assists this town so much is the class of superior business gentlemen who have located here, and their faith will be justified in future developments.

BELLINGHAM.

THE TOWN, WHICH IS ONE OF THE CLUSTER OF FOUR, LYING BETWEEN SCHOME AND FAIR HAVEN.

What interests ever induced the naming of what is one good city, with four names, in what mystifies the visitor. But one name will soon cover them all and when it comes the growth will follow. Bellingham, like its neighbors, has a good location for a town, and has a good wharfage in front of the city. One of the best reasons in the world why these cities are to grow rapidly is the fact that shrewd and financially able men are here in the real estate business. It is the real estate man who has, in conjunction with the newspaper, built up the whole business world, and when real estate transfers are not frequent it is he who takes his earnings into other desirable ventures, always giving the town that makes him a chance to pull even with him. Live real estate men are never found in dead towns. You might traverse the entire length and breadth of some of the "unmentioned" Eastern states, and outside of the cities you will never meet a real estate agent. Where they are there activity prevails. Bellingham has her share of bright dealers, men who are a credit to any community. They are not always men who depend on other people's property for a living, for here they can buy property for themselves and "the lakes" money. It shows they are responsible and the trusts one makes a deal with them of much more importance. When the real estate dealer in one of these four towns tells you that by buying now you can double your money in six months, he is drawing it mildly. Just mark this one prediction, and it is that there is property on this bay selling for $100 per lot, or $150 per foot, that in less than one year will bring $1000 in front of the $100. Messrs. Stowers & Mount, Messrs. Cooke & Curry, Messrs. Young & Schering, all reputable real estate firms at Bellingham, are gentlemen who will sell property this spring that are the maximum of population is acquired here will actually net a profit greater than the above prediction. Any one of these firms are safe firms to deal with, and if this property here does not enhance in value it will be because the property in all of the towns on Puget sound has collapsed, and is very wholly improbable. The known fact that Washington territory is the last of America to go to as a new country, and the further fact that statehood is upon us, are enough to continue immigration and development for five or ten years to come, and after a city of 50,000 people is thriving here. While you are investigating Bellingham leave your "grip" with Mr. Edgar Lindsey, whose hotel is a clever home to be in. Note the location of Mr. Lindsey's hotel and mentally inquire how long it will be at the present rate before a $50,000 hotel is built in Bellingham.

RAILROADS.

FOUR NEW RAILWAYS TO BELLINGHAM BAY—A SPLENDID NEW TOWN OPENED UP FOR NEWCOMERS AND HOME-SEEKERS AT KINGSBORO.

The New Westminster & Southern railway commences at the city of its name, on Fraser river, running thence for a distance of 27½ miles on the United States line near section 28, where it connects with the Bellingham Bay Railway & Navigation Company, and runs south to a point on Bellingham bay. Its eastern outlet will be thence to the Columbia river, via the Fair Haven & Southern railway, which will be built to the Skagit this summer.

The city of New Westminster voted the railroad a bonus of $75,000 for the erection and maintenance of railroad shops in the city and a further bonus of $75,000 more for the construction and maintenance of a steam ferry across Fraser river at that city. Westminster also agrees that in the future, if the railroad should bridge the Fraser river, it will give additional money aid of $100,000. Lytton square, with 900 feet of river frontage, a fine tract of land known as Westminster pleasure grounds, extending half a mile along the Fraser river, are leased to the railroad for 999 years at a rental of $1 a year.

This railway, for fifteen miles south of the city, runs through a most fertile country which is well settled, the population of the valley being estimated by Mr. M. M. Pickler at 5000. The last twelve miles into British Columbia runs through a heavily wooded country, owned principally by the Royal City Saw Mill Company, of New Westminster, whose owners are directors of the railway. On the American side the line runs through a rich farming country in the valley of the Nooksack, crossing that river at the new town of Kingsboro.

The situation of Kingsboro is nearly midway between Bellingham bay and the international boundary line. It is located on a moderately high piece of land on the north bank of the river, with good roads, running already, leading to its vicinity. It presents a splendid view, both up and down the Nooksack river, commands plenty of fresh water from springs, brooks and the river, which is navigable for a long distance above as well as below the bay, giving the town water communication for shippers. Fully a half million acres of magnificent agricultural land, the equal of any in the world, is directly tributary to the town.

This new town is attracting universal attention for it is in the midst of a sustaining and occupied country. A new sawmill goes up immediately and the population of Kingsboro will astonish the country six months hence. It is expected that the railroad and the bridge will be completed and cars running by September next, anyway very soon thereafter, and by that time Washington territory will have acquired another new town of more than passing notice. The Northwest Improvement Company, at Seattle, has acquired control of the new town and further information can be had from the above, or from Major A. S. Cole, Whatcom, or W. J. Mailor, esq., near the town site.

From Kingsboro the railway runs southwest across the plateau back of Bellingham bay to some point on the bay. The city of Whatcom offered the company a bonus of $50,000, which now lacks $10,000 of being subscribed. This sum will probably be made up ere long, when the depot and wharves will be commenced at Whatcom. The company expect to have trains running from the bay to New Westminister by September 1, at the latest.

In British Columbia the clearing of the entire line is about completed, grading begun, ties and bridge timber being delivered along the line. About 50,000 ties are now delivered. On the American side clearing seven miles north from Whatcom is now progressing and estimates pending for the letting of the grading.

The country is chiefly indebted to Hon. Eugene Canfield for the railway. He has, at great personal inconvenience, much expense, and with serious obstacles to overcome, conducted the enterprise to a successful conclusion, thus opening up a strip of magnificent country to America. Few men would have persevered and borne the brunt and expense of such an undertaking, and all credit is due him.

Fraser river is navigable to Yale, above Westminster, a distance of 100 miles. There is twenty-four feet of water at the mouth of the river at low tide, and an ordinary depth of sixty-five inside the bar, thus insuring uninterrupted navigation. Some of its tributaries have long stretches of navigation. It now supports a large fleet of steamers, which will be feeders to the new railway. The Nooksack has forty miles of good steam navigation, all of which shows the possible future of this railway, its town and Bellingham bay.

PERSONAL MENTION.

THE ACTIVE MEN IN THE FOUR GOOD TOWNS ON BELLINGHAM BAY—WHATCOM FIRST ON THE LIST.

Thirty years ago a gentleman writing of the earlier history of the Mississippi river declared that the leaders or business men in the very best towns were superior in energy and application to those living in the inactive towns, and that it was the men, not the location, that built cities. This rule holds good throughout the West. So marked is it that strangers visiting the growing cities on Puget sound to-day openly state that the brightest of business men are the "hustlers" of the country.

The leading spirits in the towns on Bellingham bay are no exception; their energy, public spirit, harmonious action and individual faith already started the work on the foundation that nature gave them. They argue wisely in declaring that a big town must spring up here, and they point with confidence to boundless resources in agriculture, coupled with the many other resources at their very doors. Agriculture is pointed to because these farms have been under cultivation for years, growing everything that is grown in any part of America, unless it is oranges. Peach orchards are common, and they have borne fruit annually since the county was settled many years since.

One noticeable feature in these towns attracts attention. Moss does not accumulate on the trees and roofs in these towns. This can hardly be said of any other town on the Sound, and it can be safely added that there is no moss growing on the backs of the hustlers here. A squarer set of men cannot be found than are here, and they are here for business. They pin their faith to this home of their adoption, as shown by their own purchases and improvements.

WHATCOM.

The mayor of the city is Hon. M. C. Lattic, a gentleman ever alert to the best interests of the city of Whatcom. In a new and growing city the duties of a mayor are arduous, while the pay would not furnish enough for the church contribution box. Among the first men that newcomers seeking a home hunt for is the mayor, and when found he is expected to be a walking cyclopedia. Mayor Lattic comes as near this as any one, when information of Whatcom is sought, and he imparts it with an air that carries conviction. He is invaluable to his city, and has contributed his full share to the development of Whatcom, which means money and labor.

Hon. Eugene Canfield, ex-senator from Illinois, is a well-known gentleman throughout the West. Senator Canfield must possess far-seeing knowledge for he holds heavily in lands and city property, in Whatcom years ago. He long since saw, from its geographical location and its surrounding resources, that a great future awaited Bellingham bay. Senator Canfield has lived to see the fruition of his hopes in railway connection of Bellingham bay with the outer world, as through his intercession the Bellingham Bay Railway & Navigation Company has been created, which, with its connection with the new Westminster Southern railway, another railway of his line, connects with the Canadian Pacific, the Northern Pacific and the other transcontinental lines, thus bringing Bellingham bay in direct railway communication with the outer world. In the close of these lines will have accomplished the above and will be a commercial monument to the wisdom of Senator Canfield.

FIRST BANK OF WHATCOM.

Mr. P. E. Dickenson is the founder of the above bank which has grown into one of the financial institutions of this section. The gentleman like his neighbors, has always had faith in his home town; believing that when the opportunities of the country became known, population would come in. This immigration is now coming in volumes, until Bellingham, now next door to the above bank, begins to show a parallel scene to that of Seattle. The long single file of anxious Latter seekers block the front of the Whatcom Odd Fellows following the arrival of each mail. It is a merited reward to gentlemen like Mr. Dickenson to note the development of his town, after days of patient waiting, and the merry music of the hammer and saw which fills the air at Whatcom is the long-hoped-for reward due to the courage and patience of gentlemen like him.

REAL ESTATE.

Messrs. Barney & Marcey, of Whatcom, are among the leading real estate dealers here. Mr. Barney, a former resident of New York state, has until the past few months been identified with the wholesale house of Thompson, Frutchey & Co., of Tacoma. Mr. Barney is no stranger to real estate transaction. He was a heavy purchaser of farm lands in the early and successful period of Dakota, and was among the bonanza farmers of that section. His firm, when enough to foresee the trend of immigration to Washington territory, which he anticipated by coming here at an early day, which gives him a full knowledge of values now indispensable in him. His partner, Mr. Macey, is an old resident of Whatcom, formerly in the grocery business. This firm, by virtue of their experience and extended acquaintance, have built up a prosperous business that is destined in the near future to place them among the successful men of this city. They are recognized as a responsible firm in whose hands buyers may feel assured of the best returns, and of strictly honorable dealings. Their knowledge of Bellingham bay gives them supreme advantage as real estate agents.

HARRIS & PETTIBONE, WHATCOM.

The success of some real estate men in the West has been phenomenal, and this firm is among that class. Both gentlemen are old residents here, Mr. Harris having been elected judge of probate, an important office in this county. Mr. Pettibone is a young man whose family are among the old-timers here. These gentlemen have been buyers as well as sellers, and they control some of the most valued business property here. They are among the pioneer real estate men, and have been conspicuous factors in the development of Whatcom. Coupled with their business, they have a complete set of abstracts of the county, which has proven a valued auxiliary to the business. As to their responsibility it goes without saying, and their success has been simply marvelous, only to be in part to superior judgment in the selection of property.

COLLINS & POWELL,

Have probably had their real estate sign hung to the breeze longer than any one firm in Whatcom. Both are old residents of this section and they commenced the business when transfers were few in number. Less than a year ago, the records did not show an average of one transfer per day, while now the transfers as shown in the recorder's office will average nearly twenty-five per day. Of course these sales are made by the real estate men generally, of which the above form a conspicuous part. Their long residence here gives them a knowledge of all property, and the building they occupy in common with other firms, makes it a sort of real estate exchange. It is no idle statement in saying that the real estate dealers in Whatcom are, as a class, as responsible a body of men as can be found anywhere. Parties, with their money, are in safe hands, when dealing with the above firm, or the dealers here generally.

STENGER HOUSE, WHATCOM.

One of the besieged men in Whatcom following the arrival of the steamers is Mr. Lewis Stenger, the proprietor of the Stenger house. This comes from a necessity to store away scores of cars for price as many travelers as the accommodations of the house will justify. In a sort of magician way Mr. Stenger accomplishes it. Besides, he surprises the traveling public in furnishing meals better than they expected. It would be an exacting and captious traveler who found fault with the Stenger house. It can be said also, to the credit of the proprietor, that neither in inferior meals or room, nor in 10 per cent loss he take advantage of the rush now pouring into Whatcom. His hotel is new, but too small, and, to anticipate the future, he is preparing to double the capacity of his house, which work will be speedily completed. The writer was not so much in debt to Mr. Stenger, who, by his good fare, keeps strangers good natured and in a happy humor to see what only a cronker would doubt, viz.: The coming growth on Bellingham bay.

CHESTNEY, SOREILLE & NILLES

Are another successful firm handling Whatcom real estate. They are active, energetic rustlers who make the interests of their clients a specialty, and who have contributed their full share of energy in increasing the daily number of transfers in this city. Kind things have been said of these gentlemen by those who do business with them, and no one doubts but that they will do their share of the local trade. What is expected of real estate men usually is to make money for their patrons and no reason exists why these gentlemen will not fill this bill to the satisfaction of those selling property, at least former patrons obligate them as active workers.

E. E. MUSSER, WHATCOM.

What is said of one real estate agent will equally apply to all of them here, or at least to the majority of those known to these columns. Some of these dealers, owning property of their own, found it necessary to open offices to protect their own interests. There are not near as many real estate men in those four towns in proportion to the number of sales made, as there are in other towns, and most generally those in the business are possessed of energetic men. Mr. Musser has property interests here, and handles real estate generally. In olden times faith in physicians was stimulated when they took their own remedies. If this applied to real estate men, surely strangers would have extraordinary faith, for these dealers will buy Bellingham bay property while their money lasts, and the statement is made solely to convey an idea of the character of Whatcom real estate agents. It has occurred more than once, where agents here have bought for clients, and after the bargain is closed, actually pay these clients a handsome advance to secure the property. This will convey an idea of the square dealing of these men, of which Mr. Musser is a fair representative.

ABSTRACTS.

Mr. J. P. Dennatoes, of Whatcom, has a set of abstracts and also handles real estate. He is a gentleman of some means; has desirable property of his own; is an old settler, at least has lived in Whatcom a long time, and naturally possesses an excellent knowledge of all real estate in these towns and county. It must be remembered that the real estate men here generally are gentlemen who have been here some time, and are well known. They are not the kind of dealers whose office is in their hats, and whose personal effects are carried in a valise, but are men having some property, character and means. Mr. Dennatoes is a very well-known gentleman in this section, with whom all dealings will be conducted on honorable business principles.

A NEW REAL ESTATE AGENCY.

John DeTiere is a newcomer in the real estate agency field. His office is on a prominent street, and he has fitted it up in a presentable shape. This gentleman is classified in the list of "hustlers," and is seeking to do an extensive business. He is reported as having familiarized himself with values on the bay and to have covered the field well in personal inspection of the surrounding country including town property. His office has many callers and appearances indicate that he is doing a lucrative business. It would seem that an enormous real estate business will be done here this summer, and the promised advance in values will make some men rich. Mr. DeTiere's clients will share in this prosperity.

FURNITURE.

It may surprise non-residents to know that a comparatively new town like Whatcom, at least new in activity, should at this early period of its history have dealers who are handling the same line of merchandise instead of doing a general business. Yet Whatcom does start out in this way. An exclusive furniture store, one in which a hotel or private, humble home can be fitted out entire, is here, owned by Mr. F. G. Marsch. He handles a much larger stock, with better goods, than would naturally be expected in a town of this size. It would be sheer folly, involving the expense of freight, to bring furniture here by newcomers, and parties contemplating a location here and buying in other Sound towns, thinking no good stock of furniture was carried here, would be sadly mistaken. The store of Mr. Marsch is doing such an active business that it shows the prosperity of the place possibly as much as any other one line. Some of the handsome new homes in Whatcom will be furnished entire by this house.

HARDWARE.

The rapid erection of new buildings in Whatcom has kept all dealers who furnish building supplies constantly busy. But this alone would not support a general hardware store. Logging and lumbering including farming and shipbuilding has also added in the line. It requires a little more than the average hardware dealer to supply the trade, experience in the market being also requisite. Mr. T. J. Smith has the control of the leading hardware trade in this section and his stock embraces in full quantities all articles in the line in demand here. The fact is encouraging to newcomers, some of whom imagine they will encounter inferior stocks. Mr. Smith succeeds in holding trade that but for his experience and capital might go to larger towns, and he is among that class whose presence, example and business enterprise contributes to the growth of his home. At present rate of growth it is not improbable that the hardware store of Mr. T. J. Smith will be enlarged into a wholesale house in three years.

H. A. FAIRCHILD.

One of the vital factors to safety in real estate transfers is the attorney. Educated to this profession, he can detect an impairment to a title when others would accept the property without question. The most foolish economy ever exercised is in seeking to avoid the paltry payment of an attorney's fees, when, possibly, many thousands of dollars are involved. It does not follow that the word attorney signifies that all who attach it are possessed with legal attainments and force. But all the word implies justly goes with the name of H. A. Fairchild, who is acknowledged as a good attorney in the Bellingham bay country. He is a fixture, permanently established, with a clientage of more than passing notice.

C. J. ROTH, ESQ.,

Has lived in Whatcom about six years. His former home was Peoria, Illinois, from which place he moved to Fargo, Dakota. The fact that Mr. Roth bought property during the Dakota boom, sold it to good advantage and thence came to Whatcom, is evidence of his good judgment. Mr. Roth walked into a good practice in this city, but his property interests were so valuable as to require much of his attention. It is probable that Mr. Roth will join in the partnership controlling the great Chuckanut quarry—the stone used in the Portland post-office and all buildings of note in the Northwest. The financial success of this gentleman, yet a young man, speaks volumes in favor of his ability. He has always been recognized as a lawyer of fine attainments, and the future has much in store for him. He is united by marriage with one of the oldest, most respected and wealthier families on Bellingham bay.

CLERK OF THE DISTRICT COURT.

This office is acceptably filled by Mr. C. Donovan, who is an accommodating officer. In some of the counties in the territories the duties of this office are light, but here it requires an efficient man. Mr. Donovan's official life has been such as to command the confidence of attorneys, and he is spoken of with kindness by those visiting business with him. This gentleman is a fair enthusiast of Whatcom. He recognizes its promising future and is never loth in doing all he can to advance the interests of this section. In fact, there is a harmony of feeling among the good people of all of these four towns, and while this prevails prosperity is inevitably bound to follow. This unity of action is the most encouraging feature in the present developments. The writer never has encountered a word in one town derogatory of the other, all evincing a willingness to unite under one common name.

COUNTY AUDITOR.

Mr. Hugh Eldridge, the county auditor, has had his labors increased greatly in the past few months. At the present rate of increase in real estate sales (and in three months there will be ten where there is one now) Mr. Eldridge will have to increase his office space and help. His name is recognized as one of the most honored among the older families in this part of the territory, as Mr. Edward Eldridge is the acknowledged historian of this county. His position Mr. Hugh Eldridge occupies is evidence of his popularity at his home here. The office of county auditor of Whatcom county in 1889 will be no easy place, and it is fortunate that the people in this part of activity are in the charge of Mr. Eldridge.

MR. L. T. WATSON,

Mr. Watson is a gentleman who has been here a few years, possessing at all times an adaptability that designates him as a "hustler." He is abreast of the times, and is never weary of seeking to advance the interest of Whatcom in so far as he can. It would not be saying anything ungenerous in inquiring if men of much larger property interests and means could not profit the city and themselves in emulating Mr. Watson's progressive spirit in advancing Whatcom's interests.

The dry cold weather of the winter months is productive of a great deal of trouble to our children. Mothers should be on the lookout for it, and be prepared to arrest it as soon as the first symptoms appear. True croup never comes without a warning; a day or two before the attack the child will become hoarse, and that symptom is soon followed by a peculiar, rough cough. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given as soon as this hoarseness or cough appears, all danger and anxiety may be avoided; it has never failed. There is no danger in giving the remedy, for it contains no injurious substance. For sale by L. L. Blumauer & Co.

OF THE PACIFIC COAST S. VE ONE, AND THAT IS AT THE NEW AND NO[illegible] MOST PROMISING TO[illegible]N OF

FAIR HAVEN

ON BELLINGHAM BAY.

The Same Identical Resources as Nature Gave Them to Man that Have Built the Two Great Cities on Puget Sound are at the Very Threshold of Fair Haven, and Even in Greater Abundance Than Elsewhere.

The bay in front of FAIR HAVEN is pre-eminently the finest and best on Puget Sound. It has a depth of from 30 to 125 feet of salt water, with a blue clay bottom, giving it the most certain anchorage. The water front of FAIR HAVEN commences with a gravelly beach, and 200 feet from shore, the present length of the wharf, the water is deep enough to float the Great Eastern. The distance from FAIR HAVEN to the straits of Juan de Fuca is 25 miles of clear, uninterrupted ocean sailing, and from the earliest days of marine traffic on Puget Sound up to the present time the white sails of ocean craft have been kept unfurled to the breeze, without let, hindrance or tug, until vessels drop their anchors in the smooth, unruffled waters of BELLINGHAM BAY. Here is a natural townsite in every sense of the word. The location is a splendid one and the drainage most perfect, with a direct current in each outgoing tide, carrying every vestige of deposit through a rapid channel out to the straits and the Pacific Ocean. FAIR HAVEN has three lakes of pure, fresh mountain water. First, Padden Lake; second, Samish Lake, then Whatcom Lake, to furnish it its supply of a never-failing and an abundant quantity of superior drinking water, with a sufficiency for a population of half a million people. The great stone quarry that has furnished the stone for the government building, the Portland Postoffice, the Tacoma opera house, and which will furnish the stone for all of the magnificent buildings now contemplated on Puget Sound, the famous "Chuckunut" is only a mile from the site of FAIR HAVEN. Parallel stone to the Chuckunut, which is the very finest in the Northwest, is immediately near, and ere ten years the most attractive business houses on Puget Sound must be at FAIR HAVEN, for a superabundance of superb lumber stands in stately trees all around the coming city of stone and brick. An island of lime lies opposite. The most extensive quarries, from the head of Puget Sound to the Bay of San Francisco, producing the stone that all government and public buildings in this Northwest will be built of, are here. Brick yards will soon be in operation, and the one thing most needed to build great cities, viz: an abundance of capital, is now backing FAIR HAVEN. It is the second town in Washington Territory that has a wealthy and a willing corporation ready to push it to the IMMEDIATE FRONT, and it will get there at a double quick pace. It is a town wherein titles are perfect, as the present owners are the second owners, making it the first transfer since government gave title. It is a town where all who come to grow up with it and to build in it can get their needed lots at GROUND FLOOR PRICES. It is bound to be a superior town, whose rapid growth will equal that of the most magical cities in the West, for the present owners are bound to make it a town, and they have the capital needed to accomplish it. It commences as one of the cluster of four good towns now on Bellingham Bay, viz: FAIR HAVEN, BELLINGHAM, SEHOME and WHATCOM, and it is the first of the four all so near together that you land at when you go to Bellingham Bay. It stands on its own merits, yet is a part of the cluster of four towns and will be a part of the one very large city into which all four will soon merge. Its owners are among the very largest owners of property interests in Whatcom and their interests stretch along the water front of the four towns. Its owners are in full accord with the material interests of the four, yet that pride which is the emulation of the people of the world is their own pride, and that is to make their own property, which is their part of Bellingham Bay, grow into the material and greater part of all.

THE FAIR HAVEN & SOUTHERN RAILWAY

Runs from Fair Haven to some point on the Columbia River. This railway runs through the Skagit country, a section rich in agricultural, timber, and mineral resources. This railway is expected to be completed this summer to the coal fields in the Skagit country. This coal, thus far procured, essays a better coal than has yet been found in Washington Territory. The permanent developments promise to furnish an abundance of pure bituminous coal, which in some assays of surface findings has shown 80 per cent of carbon. The tests thus far have produced a splendid coke, and nothing short of a total failure in coal fields, which to secure undeveloped have cost a fortune, will prevent the erection eventually of immense coal bunkers at Fair Haven for the ocean shipment of the Skagit coal. It is the faith of the present owners in the ultimate favorable outcome of the Skagit coal fields that causes the building of the Fair Haven & Southern Railway and in the commencement of the building of the town of Fair Haven. The cost of this venture means no child's play, and the future of Fair Haven (and its tributary country) is fraught with greater promise than was offered in the earlier history of any of the present towns and cities on Puget Sound.

WITH THE PRODUCTION OF COAL AND COKE

Comes the reduction of the magnificent iron ore FOUND ON THE SKAGIT; acknowledged by experts to be the very best iron ore yet discovered in Washington Territory. As the PIG IRON now produced within the limits of Washington Territory commands in the San Francisco market a higher price than any pig iron on the market, not excepting the famous "Scotch pig." It is so eagerly sought after that the Irondale furnaces furnishing it have its entire product engaged ahead for months to come. This pig iron, is made less than twenty-five miles from Fair Haven, out of ore assaying less than the Skagit iron ore. Does not all this suggest the certainty that the reduction of this fine ore must follow? And will not Fair Haven have the benefit of it? One of

The Largest Saw Mills

On Puget Sound is to built at Fair Haven.

The Following Corporations are the Outgrowth of the COAL, IRON AND LANDED Property Owned by and Included in What is Known as the Nelson Bennett Purchase at Bellingham Bay and in the Skagit Country, viz:

THE FAIR HAVEN & SOUTHERN RAILWAY, WHICH HAS TO-DAY 200 MEN IN ITS EMPLOY IN THE PRELIMINARY WORK PREPARATORY TO THE BUILDING OF THE RAILWAY; THE SKAGIT COAL & TRANSPORTATION COMPANY, THE FAIR HAVEN LAND COMPANY, THE BELLINGHAM BAY WATER POWER COMPANY, THE BELLINGHAM BAY ELECTRIC AND GAS LIGHT COMPANY.

The latter two being virtually one company, which owns the fresh water supply of the Bay and which will furnish pure water to the coming city on Bellingham at as low rate as water can be furnished. The officers of these corporations are: NELSON BENNETT, President; E. M. WILSON, Vice President; C. K. LARRABEE, Treasurer; E. L. COWGILL, Secretary. There is now at Fair Haven a superior hotel, furnishing good rooms and excellent meals for a hotel in a new town, and is called the FAIR HAVEN. The coal mines, only thirty miles distant, owned by this company, are now being worked, the shaft being 110 feet down, and from this time on a heavy force will be employed in the coal fields, seeking to develop them as fast as possible. Two first class steam vessels for passenger and freight traffic are now being built, one of them to go in the trade very soon between FAIR HAVEN and other Sound cities. This vessel is built for speed and safety, the two vessels being owned by the FAIR HAVEN corporation and to be used in the development of the town. It also owns and is now running at Whatcom the largest saw mill on Bellingham Bay, and it will build a number of buildings for commercial use at FAIR HAVEN. All classes of inhabitants are wanted here.

Merchants and Professional Men, Mechanics and Laborers

Are you looking for a new home? If so remember that here you can commence with the town of Fair Haven, and if you will build, become a resident and start in in your occupation you shall have the best possible chance. The company wants good residents more than they do speculators. Do not imagine there are no people here. Remember that in the four towns, one virtually running into the other, there is a present population estimated at from 2500 to 4000 and FAIR HAVEN has her pro rata share of these. The men to be employed in and around FAIR HAVEN during the construction of the new railways now building, and in the building of the wharves, new buildings, proposed coal bunkers, when the mines are farther advanced, and in the saw mills, including the usual enterprises incident to the rapid building of a good town where there are plenty of means to build it, will, altogether, be a small army of men of themselves, making FAIR HAVEN to-day one of the choicest localities in this new Northwest for new comers or home seekers to go to. Remember also that the Fair Haven & Southern Railway is not the only railway building into Bellingham Bay. There are two other roads besides this, entirely separate corporations, viz: The Bellingham Bay Railway & Navigation Company, which will build from the British boundary to Whatcom, expecting to finish this year; the Bellingham Bay & British Columbia Railway Company is still another company entirely separate from the two others. This company has a few miles of road completed. The eventual outcome of the railway work will be to give FAIR HAVEN and all towns on Bellingham Bay immediate railway communication with the outer world. Fair Haven's water communication is by sound and ocean craft, sailing and steam vessels, with either of which vessels start from Fair Haven and can go via the Straits and the Pacific ocean to all markets of the world. Please keep one thing most prominently in your mind, and that is that

FAIR HAVEN IS NO PAPER TOWN, NO BOOM TOWN OR TOWN LOT SCHEME

No lots have been peddled, no plats yet offered. This is a bona fide town scheme to build an A No. 1 city. The money these corporations are putting into Bellingham Bay and Fair Haven improvements are not cheap improvements, but permanent, lasting and creditable. These corporations must have a city here. The development of lumber, coal, lime and iron, say nothing of possible precious metals, are enough to build a great city. Also bear in mind that Whatcom county has about as many acres long since under cultivation as any county in Washington Territory and these farms are all around Fair Haven. These farmers have been here long enough to grow great orchards, and as to fruit it is enough to say that peach trees and peach orchards that have been bearing many years are here, together with all fruit trees that are grown outside the tropics. This should tell you of the climate, and as to its comparison with other parts of Washington Territory or Pacific Coast localities, the one fact that MOSS IS NOT SEEN HERE as it is elsewhere on this coast should prove the superiority of this climate over its neighbors. It is the superior of any climate on Puget Sound. This county and section is universally conceded to be among the very choicest in the Northwest. Had not all conditions been favorable for the growth of a great city on this bay, and that speedily, this corporation would not have invested the money it has in the work thus far. It is this company that owns the wharf, mills, Electric Light & Water Company at Whatcom. From the end of the company's wharf in Whatcom to the end of the Fair Haven wharf across the water is about two miles. The shore line is a little farther, but along the water edge of this bay there must grow a great city, which will equal in rapid growth and population the very best towns on Puget Sound. Now is your time to locate. Now is your chance to grow rich. If you want to learn more of Fair Haven address
